GRAINGER GIVEN BENCH PAROLE

CHANGES PLEA ON CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

Cannot Drive Car for Five Years and Must Pay $15,000 to Families of Victims of Crash.

Ernest Grainger, charged with manslaughter, was paroled from the bench by Judge W. E. Stewart in district court Saturday noon when he changed his plea to guilty. The terms of the parole included the provisions that Grainger is not to drive a car for five years and is to pay to Mrs. Sadie Boorman, mother of Edna Boorman, $10,000; to D. J. Springer, father of Carl Springer, $5,000 and funeral expenses and to Helen Stott, who survived the accident, $1,000. In addition Grainger was fined $250, the money to go to the school fund.

County Attorney Charles E. Matson bitterly objected to any parole asserting that only by a prison sentence could a person of Grainger's mental type be made to realize the seriousness of his offense.

Grainger made a statement to the judge in which he said that he had experienced the greatest grief since the accident and wanted to do all that was possible to atone for his action.

Willing to Take Sentence.

"Im very sorry this accident happened, judge," Grainger said. "I had only kindness in my heart when I went out that night. No one knows what I have had to suffer since the accident or will have to suffer in the future. It would have been easier if it had me, instead of Edna and Carl, that was taken.

"If you think that I should go to the penitentiary, I will go if this will make reparations for what has already happened."

Grainer's voice shook when he made his statement.

Matson Protests Leniency.

County Attorney Matson said that "there is nothing in the law short of prison to prevent people from doing this. This man should go to prison so that he may know that he is not above the law, that he is responsible the same as other people.

"This is a case in which youth cannot be considered. The defendant is an adult. It is commonly known throughout eastern Nebraska that he is the most notorious and flagrant violator of the speed laws in years.

"We have evidence that only last summer he took two men and two girls out to the same corner at which this accident happened and in spite of the girls protesting and even crying, went around that corner at more than fifty miles an hour. We know that he recently drove to Omaha in an hour and thirty-five minutes in spite of thep rotests of the one girl occupant. Two of the people accompanying him refused to return in his car and one other came with him only on the condition that he, not Grainger, should drive.

'The very day that he took these young people who were killed out in his car, he took it out of a repair shop where it had been repaired after another accident.

"According to the evidence of the young lady, he was driving his car seventy miles an hour shortly before he reached the corner.

'Once before he drove over the railroad track leading to the scene of the accident at such a speed that a young man who was riding with him was thrown against the top and received a wound that he will carry to his grave.

No Penalty To Accused.

"I understand that there will be certain financial attachments to this parole. Whether or not the defendant has money, I don't know. If he doesn't his relatives will meet the financial requirements and this will be no penalty to him.

"In my judgment, the court should assess a sentence that will be an example to these reckless and senseless drivers who take the lives of young people."

John Ledwith, Grainger's attorney, read letters from Helen Stott, D. J. Springer and I. G. Chapin, brother-in-law of Miss Boorman's mother.

Miss Stott's Letter.

Miss Stott addressed her letter to H. B. Grainger, Ernest Grainger's father. It follows:

"My Dear Mr. Grainger:

"For some time I have wished that I might express to you my sincere sympathy for the misfortunee which has come to your son, and the sorrow to us all.

'It is difficult for us to understand why such sorrows have to come into our lives, but since we know that grief must come to al alike in this life, this knowled should only inspire in us a feeling of deepest sympathy and loyalty for another in his hour of misfortune.

"To me, the accident stands out as a sad—sad memory, the sorrow of which can never be forgotten.

"The idea of prosecution in connection with such a tragedy seems to me most foreign. It cannot bring back those who have gone and only makes greater the suffering.

"I feel that if those who, seemingly, are prone to criticize and judge, might have been present and appreciated just what the experience was and knew the altitude of frantic grief and remose in your son at the scene of the tragedy, they could only feel as I do, and realize how harsh and unjust is their censure. They are forgetting to grieve in their haste to condemn. I sincerely trust that no action of prejudic may ever cause injustice to be done. I have only wished there might been something I could do to help.

"Most sincerely,
HELEN E. STOTT."

No Revengeful Feeling.

The letter of I. G. Chapin, addressed to the elder Mr. Grainger, follows:

"H. B. Grainger,
Lincoln, Nebraska.
"Dear Mr. Grainger:

"I have recently seen Mrs. Boorman and delivered to her the expression of sympathy from you and Ernest and it was appreciated. It would be natural for you to think that she might have a bitter feeling toward Ernest, but she is a noble woman and harbors no revengeful feeling towards Ernest. She is crushed with grief, but assures you that it will give her no comfort to have anything added to your sorrow over the distressing accident. She is cognizant of the genuine sorrow and penitent feeling of Ernest. I regret that you should be met with this sorrow on return from your summer trip abroad.

"Yours truly,

"My Dear Sir:

"Your letter of the second inst. afforded some comfort as I read of the sympathy you had for me over the loss of my son, Carl, and I thank you for it.

"After reading your account of the reception in Chicago of the news of the accident wherein my son lost his life. I came to the conclusion that you needed sympathy as well as I, which I wish to extend to you and your family. Were I in your place I surely should need it.

"I believe that your son must feel most keenly and no doubt grieves greatly over the accident. I do not now think and at no time did I think that he deliberately caused

FLAMES COST WOMAN'S LIFE

Miss Rhoda Ables Dies From Burns Received Early Saturday Morning When Her Clothing Catches Fire.

VICTIM ALONE WHEN TRAGEDY OCCURED

Fatal Accident Follows Attempt to Start Fire In Stove Close to Bed — Brother's Efforts to Save Life Futile.

Miss Rhoda Ables, 52, died from burns received early Saturday morning when her clothing caught fire while she was starting a fire in her stove with kerosene. She lived in a small house at Fourth and Claremont streets.

According to Riley Ables, brother of the victim, the first he knew of the accident was about 6:30, when he heard screams coming from the house in which his sister lived alone. Mr. Ables lives in a tent close to his sister's home.

Hearing the screams, he rushed to the door of the house and broke it in. It was fastened shut with a rope. The woman was lying on the floor, her clothing blazing. He carried her outside and smothered the flames.

When he reached her, Mr. Ables said, she was unconscious and he believed that she ied a few moments later.

The stove which Miss Ables was attempting to light when the fire started, was little more than a foot from her bed. Kerosene had been poured from the lamp into a can and it is thought that this oil was poured on the wood in the stove. It is thought that oil was also spilled on the bed clothes and on Miss Ables' clothes and that when she lighted the wood in the stove, her clothing also caught fire.

Splain & Schnell's ambulance was called but life was extinct when aid arrived. Miss Ables' entire body was severely burned.

Miss Ables leaves, beside her brother, Riley, two brothers, Lennie and Frank, and one sister, Mrs. L. Heath of Anderson, Ia.

LLOYD GEORGE BIDS FAREWELL TO AMERICANS

Leaves Plea For British-American Union In Present World Crisis Before Sailing On Majestic.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—David Lloyd-George went home today, leaving as his last message for America a plea for a British-American union in the present world crisis.

Just before the Majestic was pulled out from its dock, the war time British premier predicted that the United States and England—"pulling together"—could force France to settlement on reparations.

"France would have become a vassal state if it had not been for what America and England did in the war," the fiery little Welshman declared.

"If England and the United States get together and reach an aggreement, France will have to yield."

Police In Readiness.

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—New York police held themselves in readiness today, before the sailing of David Lloyd-George, for another possible clash with Irish republican sympathizers following the brush with demonstrators Friday night.

Mounted men last night were called into action and nearly a dozen persons arrested when they attempted to hold an anti-British meeting on Broadway in front of the opera house during Mr. Lloyd-George's address and later to disturb his rest after he had reached his hotel.

The Irish band was armed with placards denouncing the ex-statesman as a "murderer" and mounted on high was a picture of Eamon De Valera. The demonstrators raised their voices in songs and jeers, which they hoped would penetrate the hall, but those within the auditorium were unaware of the disturbance outside.

Guarded by a heavy detail of police, Mr. Lloyd-George, after completing his address, returned to his hotel, only to be followed by some of his hecklers. They attempted to hold a demonstration on the corner of Fifth avenue, but were prevented by a heavy cordon of police who remained all night around the hotel.

The only unauthorized voice raised in the opera house came at the end of the Welshman's address, when a man near the stage cried:

"Three cheers for Lloyd-George, the father of the Irish Free State."

BROTHERHOODS OPPOSE FORD

Railroad Organizations Are Against Manufacturer's Presidential Candidacy, But Approve Currency Reform.

FORMATION OF THIRD PARTY DISAPPROVED

Ask Soldier Bonus From Excess Profits, Curtailment of Supreme Court Power and Repeal of Esch-Cummins Act.

Although the railroad brotherhoods of Nebraska are opposed to Henry Ford's candidacy for president, they have endorsed his idea of currency reform which contemplates the issuance of legal tender paper money by the government direct and establishing a system of government banking to replace the federal reserve institutions.

This is the leading plank in a statement of political aims favored by the four brotherhoods, given out by their authorized spokesmen constituting the state legislative board. Repeal of the Esch-Cummins railroad law, extension of primary laws, depriving the federal supreme court of power to declare laws unconstitutional, and a soldier bonus to be paid out of excess profits taxes are other policies which they endorse.

The brotherhood leaders also recommend that members of the organizations act with farmers and other labor groups in securing the nomination of candidates for political offices who are friendly to their program, and that this be done through the existing parties. Formation of a third party is opposed.

Brotherhood's Statement.

Following is the statement given out as embodying what the railroad organization will stand for:

"Whereas, it is the sense of this meeting as the executive committees of the four transportation brotherhoods, that we will have a perfect organization in the state for progressive political action, and

"Whereas, we realize that this cannot be accomplished without complete co-operation, and

"Therefore, be it resolved, that we co-operate on the selection of candidates favorable to farmers and laborers regardless of political affiliation, and

"Be it further resolved, that we go on record as opposing the formation of a third party, in that the attention of farmers and laborers is diverted from present unfavorable conditions to the producing and consuming classes for political purposes and we insist that our membership go to the primaries of both old parties and vote for the nomination of candidates who are pledged as favoring constructive legislation in the interest of the producers, and

"Be it further resolved, that this conference realizing that the interests of both the farmer and laborer have been greatly damaged by the deflation of 1920 of the privately owned federal reserve bank system

WILL CONSIDER EIGHT HOUR DAY

Oberlies Says Cannot Cut Hours of State Engineers and Firemen.

Proposed Change Would Result in Greatly Increased Expenditures.

Governor Bryan has addressed a letter to the board of control, transmitting to it a set of resolutions which he received from the secretary of the state federation of labor asking that "engineers, firemen and other employes" in the various state institutions be employed on the eight hour day basis, instead of twelve hours.

The governor recommends to the board that it "give these resolutions due and earnest consideration," with particular reference to the engineers and firemen. He does not suggest that "other employes" also be given an eight-hour day, though the resolutions passed by the state federation includes them.

After receiving Mr. Bryan's communication Saturday, Member L. C. Oberlies of the board of control said:

"We have 875 officers and employes at the eighteen state institutions under our supervision. Probably 800 of these are on duty more than eight hours per day. While the board would like to see all employes given an eight-hour day, if this were possible, I do not see how it can be done until the legislature sees fit to increase the appropriations very largely.

"The expense for wages if three shifts had to be employed would be increasd enormously. We would also be compelled to provide housing for 50 per cent more employes than we now have, and that would mean a very large outlay to erect new buildings and to furnish, heat and maintain them. As nearly all employes are furnished meals in connection with their employment, the cost of foodstuffs would also be much greater.

Work on Different Basis.

"The state institution employes work on a different basis from those in private industrial or commercial occupations. They live where they work and do not have to spend time going to and from their employment. Taking everything together, the state is not a hard taskmaster. Its employes are well treated and we have had little complaint from them about working conditions.

"In the case of institution super intendents, physicians, matrons and other officials, they are always on duty."

Chairman Allyn of the board said that engineers and firemen on a 12-hour shift in mild weather like that now prevailing, have little actual work to do. Some of them are kept on the payroll the year round, although in the summer they keep up only enough fire to run the institution laundries and furnish hot water. The penitentiary and a few other institutions with large power plants are exceptions to this rule. In the winter time, extra help is employed so as to provide day and night shifts for the heating plants.

At the state capitol, firemen and janitors do not work any specified number of hours.

They are under the direct supervision of Land Commissioner Swanson, acting for the board of which Governor Bryan is chairman. The janitors go on duty about 6 a. m. and go home at 7 p. m., or whenever they get through with their work, but they have an hour or two off in the middle of the day.

During the spring, summer and fall one engineer and fireman look after the capitol heating plant. In the winter, extra help is used there.

LATONIA TRACK, LATONIA, Ky., Nov. 3—In Memoriam this afternoon won he $50,000 Latonia championship stakes and the world's 3-year-old title for 1924 before a crowd of approximately 50,000 persons.

(Associated Press.)

LATONIA RACE TRACK, LATONIA, Ky., Nov. 3.—Three hours before Zev and My Own were to go to the post in the $50,000 Latonia championship stakes today a drizzling rain began falling from overcast skies with indications that it would continue all afternoon

Unless the rainfall increases, track officials said, the course would not be seriously affected, although the conditions would slightly favor Zev, which likes a heavy or muddy track. Despite the rain it was estimated 50,000 persons were present.

Zev ruled the betting choice early this afternoon His odds were estimated at 3 to 5. My Own was second choice his price advancing from 8 to 9 to 5. Realto, the fourth choice a few days, ago, replaced In Memoriam as third choice, with odds at 6 to 1. In Memoriam was fourth choice at 10 to 1. Taylor Hay, the outsider, was variously quoted at from 20 to 30 to 1.

Sam Hildreth, trainer of Zev, said Zev "will win sure."

Admiral Grayson was just as confident that his horse would triumph.

At 2:30 p. m. an hour before the start of the race the drizzle continued.

BEATRICE, Neb., Nov. 3.—Leo Goracke, twenty-four, Beatrice, suffered a fractured skull and other dangerous injuries last night when he was run down by an automobile driven by Edward Taylor, also of this city. Troops Assembled.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—A Havas dispatch from Berlin says it is learned auuthoritatively that the Bavarian government has sent an ultimatum to Chancellor Stresemann, demanding the establishment of a nationalist dictatorship. The Bavarian government, the dispatch adds, intends moving forward the troops now assembled at the Bavarian frontier unless such a dictatorship is created with the briefest delay.

Would Halt Collapse.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—New York's appraisal of the mark on the basis of onee and two-thirds trillion to the dollar, moved Chancellor Stresemann to convoke a midnight session of his rump cabinet, at which several emergency ordinances were proclaimed for the purpose of forestalling a similar collapse of the mark in Berlin.

The government will permit payments to be made in foreign currencies, although it is prohibited to specify gold exchange as the sole medium of payment. The fading paper mark will still rank as the official currency and its acceptance as such is made obligatory.

Ruin Art Treasures.

AIX LA CHAPELLE, Nov. 3.—The famous old Kaiser hall at Aix, a treasure hall of art wherein thirty-seven German rulers were crowned prior to the year 1531, was a sorry spectacle today as the result of the fighting that took place within its walls yesterday between the Matthes separatists and a small guard of police and firemen.

The damage done is irreparable. Eight frescoes, ranked among the finest examples of modern painting, were ruined. A celebrated portrait of Charlemagne suffered seriously, while another picture was pierced by twenty-two bullets.

When the separatists, temporarily successful in their attack on the building, were ordered by the Belgians to leave the city, it did not take them long to comply. The Belgian officer's ultimatum placed the time limit at ninety minutes, but immediately the 1,500 republicans marched to the station and entrained.

Four of them, who flaunted a separatist proclamation from the rear platform of the train as it pulled out, were yanked off the car by the crowd and taken to an open space where two were beaten to death. The other two were rescued in a dying condition by the police.

The casualties in the fight at the town hall have not been estimated.

Felt Collapses Certain.

COLOGNE, Germany, Nov. 3.—Collapse of the separatist republic at Aix La Chapelle is regarded in official allied circles here as due to conclusion by the Belgian government that the movement was a failure.

It is reported that word came from Brussels to the Belgian authorities in Aix not to countenance further efforts by Leo Deckers' adherents to defy the local authorities who, with the majority of the citizens, are understood to have opposed the movement from the beginning.

GRAINGER GIVEN BENCH PAROLE

CHANGES PLEA ON CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

Cannot Drive Car for Five Years and Must Pay $15,000 to Families of Victims of Crash.

Ernest Grainger, charged with manslaughter, was paroled from the bench by Judge W. E. Stewart in district court Saturday noon when he changed his plea to guilty. The terms of the parole included the provisions that Grainger is not to drive a car for five years and is to pay to Mrs. Sadie Boorman, mother of Edna Boorman, $10,000; to D. J. Springer, father of Carl Springer, $5,000 and funeral expenses and to Helen Stott, who survived the accident, $1,000. In addition Grainger was fined $250, the money to go to the school fund.

County Attorney Charles E. Matson bitterly objected to any parole asserting that only by a prison sentence could a person of Grainger's mental type be made to realize the seriousness of his offense.

Grainger made a statement to the judge in which he said that he had experienced the greatest grief since the accident and wanted to do all that was possible to atone for his action.

Young Grainger Is Given Parole

Ernest Grainger, who Saturday changed his plea of not guilty to guilty to a charge of manslaughter and was given a bench parole. The charge grew out of an auto accident in September in which Edna Boorman and Carl Springer, university students, were killed.

Willing to Take Sentence.

"Im very sorry this accident happened, judge," Grainger said. "I had only kindness in my heart when I went out that night. No one knows what I have had to suffer since the accident or will have to suffer in the future. It would have been easier if it had me, instead of Edna and Carl, that was taken.

"If you think that I should go to the penitentiary, I will go if this will make reparations for what has already happened."

Grainer's voice shook when he made his statement.

Matson Protests Leniency.

County Attorney Matson said that "there is nothing in the law short of prison to prevent people from doing this. This man should go to prison so that he may know that he is not above the law, that he is responsible the same as other people.

"This is a case in which youth cannot be considered. The defendant is an adult. It is commonly known throughout eastern Nebraska that he is the most notorious and flagrant violator of the speed laws in years.

"We have evidence that only last summer he took two men and two girls out to the same corner at which this accident happened and in spite of the girls protesting and even crying, went around that corner at more than fifty miles an hour. We know that he recently drove to Omaha in an hour and thirty-five minutes in spite of thep rotests of the one girl occupant. Two of the people accompanying him refused to return in his car and one other came with him only on the condition that he, not Grainger, should drive.

'The very day that he took these young people who were killed out in his car, he took it out of a repair shop where it had been repaired after another accident.

"According to the evidence of the young lady, he was driving his car seventy miles an hour shortly before he reached the corner.

'Once before he drove over the railroad track leading to the scene of the accident at such a speed that a young man who was riding with him was thrown against the top and received a wound that he will carry to his grave.

No Penalty To Accused.

"I understand that there will be certain financial attachments to this parole. Whether or not the defendant has money, I don't know. If he doesn't his relatives will meet the financial requirements and this will be no penalty to him.

"In my judgment, the court should assess a sentence that will be an example to these reckless and senseless drivers who take the lives of young people."

John Ledwith, Grainger's attorney, read letters from Helen Stott, D. J. Springer and I. G. Chapin, brother-in-law of Miss Boorman's mother.

Miss Stott's Letter.

Miss Stott addressed her letter to H. B. Grainger, Ernest Grainger's father. It follows:

"My Dear Mr. Grainger:

"For some time I have wished that I might express to you my sincere sympathy for the misfortunes which has come to your son, and the sorrow to us all.

"It is difficult for us to understand why such sorrows have to come into our lives, but since we know that grief must come to al alike in this life, this knowled should only inspire in us a feeling of deepest sympathy and loyalty for another in his hour of misfortune.

"To me, the accident stands out as a sad—sad memory, the sorrow of which can never be forgotten.

"The idea of prosecution in connection with such a tragedy seems to me most foreign. It cannot bring back those who have gone and only makes greater the suffering.

"I feel that if those who, seemingly, are prone to criticize and judge, might have been present and appreciated just what the experience was and knew the altitude of frantic grief and remose in your son at the scene of the tragedy, they could only feel as I do, and realize how harsh and unjust is their censure. They are forgetting to grieve in their haste to condemn. I sincerely trust that no action of prejudic may ever cause injustice to be done. I have only wished there might been something I could do to help.

"Most sincerely,

No Revengeful Feeling.

The letter of I. G. Chapin, addressed to the elder Mr. Grainger, follows:

"Lincoln, Nebraska.
November 3, 1923.

"H. H. Grainger,
Lincoln, Nebraska.

"Dear Mr. Grainger:

"I have recently seen Mrs. Boorman and delivered to her the expression of sympathy from you and Ernest and it was appreciated. It would be natural for you to think that she might have a bitter feeling toward Ernest, but she is a noble woman and harbors no revengeful feeling towards Ernest. She is crushed with grief, but assures you that it will give her no comfort to have anything added to your sorrow over the distressing accident. She is cognizant of the genuine sorrow and penitent feeling of Ernest. I regret that you should be met with this sorrow on return from your summer trip abroad.

"Yours truly,
(Signed) I. G. CHAPIN."

"Mr. H. B. Grainger,

"My Dear Sir:

"Your letter of the second inst. afforded some comfort as I read of the sympathy you had for me over the loss of my son, Carl, and I thank you for it.

"After reading your account of the reception in Chicago of the news of the accident wherein my son lost his life, I came to the conclusion that you needed sympathy as well as I, which I wish to extend to you and your family. Were I in your place I surely should need it.

"I believe that your son must feel most keenly and no doubt grieves greatly over the accident. I do not now think and at no time did I think that he deliberately caused

OTTAWA, Kas., Nov. 3.—Four unmasked bandits who rode into Ottawa yesterday, entered the First National bank, locked fifteen persons in the vault and robbed the institution, were at liberty today with the proceeds of their daring robbery—$25,000 in money and some $109,000 in bonds and securities. Five thousand dollars in gold was overlooked by the robbers.

Officers here and in surrounding counties made a fruitless search during the day to pick up the trail of the robbers, who escaped in a motorcar.

FLAMES COST WOMAN'S LIFE

Miss Rhoda Ables Dies From Burns Received Early Saturday Morning When Her Clothing Catches Fire.

VICTIM ALONE WHEN TRAGEDY OCCURED

Fatal Accident Follows Attempt to Start Fire In Stove Close to Bed — Brother's Efforts to Save Life Futile.

Miss Rhoda Ables, 52, died from burns received early Saturday morning when her clothing caught fire while she was starting a fire in her stove with kerosene. She lived in a small house at Fourth and Claremont streets.

According to Riley Ables, brother of the victim, the first he knew of the accident was about 6:30, when he heard screams coming from the house in which his sister lived alone. Mr. Ables lives in a tent close to his sister's home.

Hearing the screams, he rushed to the door of the house and broke it in. It was fastened shut with a rope. The woman was lying on the floor, her clothing blazing. He carried her outside and smothered the flames.

When he reached her, Mr. Ables said, she was unconscious and he believed that she ied a few moments later.

The stove which Miss Ables was attempting to light when the fire started, was little more than a foot from her bed. Kerosene had been poured from the lamp into a can and it is thought that this oil was poured on the wood in the stove. It is thought that oil was also spilled on the bed clothes and on Miss Ables' clothes and that when she lighted the wood in the stove, her clothing also caught fire.

Splain & Schnell's ambulance was called but life was extinct when aid arrived. Miss Ables' entire body was severely burned.

Miss Ables leaves, beside her brother, Riley, two brothers, Lennie and Frank, and one sister, Mrs. L. Heath of Anderson, Ia.

BROTHERHOODS OPPOSE FORD

Railroad Organizations Are Against Manufacturer's Presidential Candidacy, But Approve Currency Reform.

FORMATION OF THIRD PARTY DISAPPROVED

Ask Soldier Bonus From Excess Profits, Curtailment of Supreme Court Power and Repeal of Esch-Cummins Act.

Although the railroad brotherhoods of Nebraska are opposed to Henry Ford's candidacy for president, they have endorsed his idea of currency reform which contemplates the issuance of legal tender paper money by the government direct and establishing a system of government banking to replace the federal reserve institutions.

This is the leading plank in a statement of political aims favored by the four brotherhoods, given out by their authorized spokesmen constituting the state legislative board. Repeal of the Esch-Cummins railroad law, extension of primary laws, depriving the federal supreme court of power to declare laws unconstitutional, and a soldier bonus to be paid out of excess profits taxes are other policies which they endorse.

The brotherhood leaders also recommend that members of the organizations act with farmers and other labor groups in securing the nomination of candidates for political offices who are friendly to their program, and that this be done through the existing parties. Formation of a third party is opposed.

Brotherhood's Statement.

Following is the statement given out as embodying what the railroad organization will stand for:

"Whereas, it is the sense of this meeting as the executive committees of the four transportation brotherhoods, that we will have a perfect organization in the state for progressive political action, and

"Whereas, we realize that this cannot be accomplished without complete co-operation, and

"Therefore, be it resolved, that we co-operate on the selection of candidates favorable to farmers and laborers regardless of political affiliation, and

"Be it further resolved, that we go on record as opposing the formation of a third party, in that the attention of farmers and laborers is diverted from present unfavorable conditions to the producing and consuming classes for political purposes and we insist that our membership go to the primaries of both old parties and vote for the nomination of candidates who are pledged as favoring constructive legislation in the interest of the producers, and

"Be it further resolved, that this conference realizing that the interests of both the farmer and laborer have been greatly damaged by the deflation of 1920 of the privately owned federal reserve bank system

WILL CONSIDER EIGHT HOUR DAY

Oberlies Says Cannot Cut Hours of State Engineers and Firemen.

Proposed Change Would Result in Greatly Increased Expenditures.

Governor Bryan has addressed a letter to the board of control, transmitting to it a set of resolutions which he received from the secretary of the state federation of labor asking that "engineers, firemen and other employes" in the various state institutions be employed on the eight hour day basis, instead of twelve hours.

The governor recommends to the board that it "give these resolutions due and earnest consideration," with particular reference to the engineers and firemen. He does not suggest that "other employes" also be given an eight-hour day, though the resolutions passed by the state federation includes them.

After receiving Mr. Bryan's communication Saturday, Member L. C. Oberlies of the board of control said:

"We have 875 officers and employes at the eighteen state institutions under our supervision. Probably 800 of these are on duty more than eight hours per day. While the board would like to see all employes given an eight-hour day, if this were possible, I do not see how it can be done until the legislature sees fit to increase the appropriations very largely.

"The expense for wages if three shifts had to be employed would be increasd enormously. We would also be compelled to provide housing for 50 per cent more employes than we now have, and that would mean a very large outlay to erect new buildings and to furnish, heat and maintain them. As nearly all employes are furnished meals in connection with their employment, the cost of foodstuffs would also be much greater.

Work on Different Basis.

"The state institution employes work on a different basis from those in private industrial or commercial occupations. They live where they work and do not have to spend time going to and from their employment. Taking everything together, the state is not a hard taskmaster. Its employes are well treated and we have had little complaint from them about working conditions.

"In the case of institution superintendents, physicians, matrons and other officials, they are always on duty."

Chairman Allyn of the board said that engineers and firemen on a 12-hour shift in mild weather like that now prevailing have little actual work to do. Some of them are kept on the payroll the year round, although in the summer they keep up only enough fire to run the institution laundries and furnish hot water. The penitentiary and a few other institutions with large power plants are exceptions to this rule. In the winter time, extra help is employed so as to provide day and night shifts for the heating plants.

At the state capitol, firemen and janitors do not work any specified number of hours.

They are under the direct supervision of Land Commissioner Swanson, acting for the board of which Governor Bryan is chairman. The janitors go on duty about 6 a. m. and go home at 7 p. m., or whenever they get through with their work, but they have an hour or two off in the middle of the day.

During the spring, summer and fall one engineer and fireman look after the capitol heating plant, in the winter, extra help is used there.

LLOYD GEORGE BIDS FAREWELL TO AMERICANS

Leaves Plea For British-American Union In Present World Crisis Before Sailing On Majestic.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—David Lloyd-George went home today, leaving as his last message for America a plea for a British-American union in the present world crisis.

Just before the Majestic was pulled out from its dock, the war time British premier predicted that the United States and England—"pulling together"—could force France to settlement on reparations.

"France would have become a vassal state if it had not been for what America and England did in the war," the fiery little Welshman declared.

"If England and the United States get together and reach an aggreement, France will have to yield.'

Police In Readiness.

(Associated Press)

NEY YORK, Nov. 3.—New York police held themselves in readiness today, before the sailing of David Lloyd-George, for another possible clash with Irish republican sympathizers following the brush with demonstrators Friday night.

Mounted men last night were called into action and nearly a dozen persons arrested when they attempted to hold an anti-British meeting on Broadway in front of the opera house during Mr. Lloyd-George's address and later to disturb his rest after he had reached his hotel.

The Irish band was armed with placards denouncing the ex-statesman as a "murderer" and mounted on high was a picture of Eamon De Valera. The demonstrators raised their voices in songs and jeers, which they hoped would penetrate the hall, but those within the auditorium were unaware of the disturbance outside.

Guarded by a heavy detail of police, Mr. Lloyd-George, after completing his address, returned to his hotel, only to be followed by some of his hecklers. They attempted to hold a demonstration on the corner of Fifth avenue, but were prevented by a heavy cordon of police who remained all night around the hotel.

The only unauthorized voice raised in the opera house came at the end of the Welshman's address, when a man near the stage cried:

"Three cheers for Lloyd-George, the father of the Irish Free State."

IN MEMORIAM RACE WINNER

LATONIA TRACK, LATONIA, Ky., Nov. 3—In Memoriam this afternoon won he $50,000 Latonia championship stakes and the world's 3-year-old title for 1924 before a crowd of approximately 50,000 persons.

(Associated Press.)

LATONIA RACE TRACK, LATONIA, Ky., Nov. 3.—Three hours before Zev and My Own were to go to the post in the $50,000 Latonia championship stakes today a drizzling rain began falling from overcast skies with indications that it would continue all afternoon

Unless the rainfall increases, track officials said, the course would not be seriously affected, although the conditions would slightly favor Zev, which likes a heavy or muddy track. Despite the rain it was estimated 50,000 persons were present.

Zev ruled the betting choice early this afternoon His odds were estimated at 3 to 5. My Own was second choice his price advancing from 8 to 9 to 5. Realto, the fourth choice a few days, ago, replaced In Memoriam as third choice, with odds at 6 to 1. In Memoriam was fourth choice at 10 to 1. Taylor Hay, the outsider, was variously quoted at from 20 to 30 to 1.

Sam Hildreth, trainer of Zev, said Zev "will win sure."

Admiral Grayson was just as confident that his horse would triumph.

At 2:30 p. m. an hour before the start of the race the drizzle continued.

Troops Assembled.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—A Havas dispatch from Berlin says it is learned auuthoritatively that the Bavarian government has sent an ultimatum to Chancellor Stresemann, demanding the establishment of a nationalist dictatorship. The Bavarian government, the dispatch adds, intends moving forward the troops now assembled at the Bavarian frontier unless such a dictatorship is created with the briefest delay.

Would Halt Collapse.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—New York's appraisal of the mark on the basis of onee and two-thirds trillion to the dollar, moved Chancellor Stresemann to convoke a midnight session of his rump cabinet, at which several emergency ordinances were proclaimed for the purpose of forestalling a similar collapse of the mark in Berlin.

The government will permit payments to be made in foreign currencies, although it is prohibited to specify gold exchange as the sole medium of payment. The fading paper mark will still rank as the official currency and its acceptance as such is made obligatory.

Ruin Art Treasures.

AIX LA CHAPELLE, Nov. 3.—The famous old Kaiser hall at Aix, a treasure hall of art wherein thirty-seven German rulers were crowned prior to the year 1531, was a sorry spectacle today as the result of the fighting that took place within its walls yesterday between the Matthes separatists and a small guard of police and firemen.

The damage done is irreparable. Eight frescoes, ranked among the finest examples of modern painting, were ruined. A celebrated portrait of Charlemagne suffered seriously, while another picture was pierced by twenty-two bullets.

When the separatists, temporarily successful in their attack on the building, were ordered by the Belgians to leave the city, it did not take them long to comply. The Belgian officer's ultimatum placed the time limit at ninety minutes, but immediately the 1,500 republicans marched to the station and entrained.

Four of them, who flaunted a separatist proclamation from the rear platform of the train as it pulled out, were yanked off the car by the crowd and taken to an open space where two were beaten to death. The other two were rescued in a dying condition by the police.

The casualties in the fight at the town hall have not been estimated.

Felt Collapses Certain.

COLOGNE, Germany, Nov. 3.—Collapse of the separatist republic at Aix La Chapelle is regarded in official allied circles here as due to conclusion by the Belgian government that the movement was a failure.

It is reported that word came from Brussels to the Belgian authorities in Aix not to countenance further efforts by Leo Deckers' adherents to defy the local authorities who, with the majority of the citizens, are understood to have opposed the movement from the beginning.

NEW YORK POLICE BATTLE RADICALS

Eight Arrested Near Opera House Where Lloyd George Speaks.

England's War Premier Urges Americans to "Follow Through."

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Eight persons were arrested near the Metropolitan opera house, where Lloyd George, war premier of Great Britain, was speaking last night when Irish sympathizers attempted to hold a mass meeting on the street. Patrolmen's caps were knocked from their heads by placards the sympathizers were carrying.

Police fought a hand-to-hand battle with a large group that gathered on Fortieth street near Broadway. Many carried signs bearing the picture of Eamon de Valera, while others were inscribed with phrases uncomplimentary to the British visitor

Mounted police finally charged the crowd that surged about the blue coats Hundreds of persons were driven back to Sixth avenue, while here and there patrolmen grabbed some of the group and placed them under arrest. Several of those so caught were women.

The police later thwarted further efforts of Irish republican sympathizers, to disturb Mr. Lloyd George after he had retired for the night by throwing a cordon around his hotel and dispersing a band attempting to march through the street and another band who attempted a demonstration near the hotel.

Pleads for Help.

America was called upon by David Lloyd-George in his farewell address in the new world to perform, along with theBritish empire, its full duty to the world

"You responded to Europe's need in 1917," he declared. "But the work is only half done and if not completed civilization is doomed within this generation to a catastrophe such as the world has never seen."

Speaking to a brilliant audience, the former British premier discussed conditions in Europe, declaring to those who say "keep clear of the wreckage, yes, but there are millions underneath."

"Follow through and keep your eye on the ball," pleaded the little Welchman in acclaiming the Hughes' proposal for an international commission to solve Europe's reparations tangle.

Before sailing for home today, after touring Canada and the United States, Mr. Lloyd George urged America not to be hard on Europe and added: "All vengeance is unbalanced. Every vindictive man or woman is partly insane."

SHIP SPEEDS FIVE MILES A MINUTE

Navy Lieutenant Flies in Plane at Rate of 265 Miles An Hour.

Recognized as The Fastest Speed Ever Attained By Man.

MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y, Nov 3. The fastest speed ever attained by man was made yesterday by Lieut H J. Brow, navy aviator, who flew over a three kilometer straight-away course four times at an average speed of 259.15 miles an hour. On one leg of the course he travelled at the phenomenal rate of 265.21 miles an hour.

Brow's record was attained in competition with Lieutenant A. J. Williams, former pitcher of the New York Giants baseball club, and winner of the Pulitzer race, both men flying navy Curtiss planes. Brow was second in the Pulitzer contest.

Brow went up first and set a pace of 257 42 miles an hour and Williams was soon in the air, intent on beating that record. When his plane reached the ground he found he had flown 258.61 miles an hour. As he was being congratulated by army officers and others who watched the speed trials, Brow ran to his plane.

"Whirl the propellor boys," he shouted to his mechanics, I'm going after it."

Five Miles a Minute.

The spectators held their breath as his plane shot through the air, and the thrill of the day came on the second leg, when, flying with the light wind that wafted over the army post field, he sent his machine at the breath-taking clip of nearly five miles a minute.

"It was almost unbelievable," said Major William N. Hensley, commanding officer at Mitchell field, who was in direct charge of the contests.

"Pretty good, Brow," said Williams as he congratulated his competitor, "but I'm going to beat it tomorrow."

Brow only smiled.

The contest was viewed by officials of the national aeronautic association and American representatives of the internation air federation. It was announced the record would have official recognition.

Himes of the Fremont Retail Merchant's association encloses a printed advertisement for the sale of stock in the American Telegraph & Telephone Co. declaring that it pays 9 per cent dividends per year. NEW YORK POLICE BATTLE RADICALS

Eight Arrested Near Opera House Where Lloyd George Speaks.

England's War Premier Urges Americans to "Follow Through."

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Eight persons were arrested near the Metropolitan opera house, where Lloyd George, war premier of Great Britain, was speaking last night when Irish sympathizers attempted to hold a mass meeting on the street. Patrolmen's caps were knocked from their heads by placards the sympathizers were carrying.

Police fought a hand-to-hand battle with a large group that gathered on Fortieth street near Broadway. Many carried signs bearing the picture of Eamon de Valera, while others were inscribed with phrases uncomplimentary to the British visitor.

Mounted police finally charged the crowd that surged about the blue coats. Hundreds of persons were driven back to Sixth avenue, while here and there patrolmen grabbed some of the group and placed them under arrest. Several of those so caught were women.

The police later thwarted further efforts of Irish republican sympathizers, to disturb Mr. Lloyd George after he had retired for the night by throwing a cordon around his hotel and dispersing a band attempting to march through the street and another band who attempted a demonstration near the hotel.

Pleads for Help.

America was called upon by David Lloyd-George in his farewell address in the new world to perform, along with theBritish empire, its full duty to the world.

"You responded to Europe's need in 1917," he declared. "But the work is only half done and if not completed civilization is doomed within this generation to a catastrophe such as the world has never seen."

Speaking to a brilliant audience, the former British premier discussed conditions in Europe, declaring to those who say "keep clear of the wreckage, yes, but there are millions underneath."

"Follow through and keep your eye on the ball," pleaded the little Welchman in acclaiming the Hughes' proposal for an international commission to solve Europe's reparations tangle.

Before sailing for home today, after touring Canada and the United States, Mr. Lloyd George urged America not to be hard on Europe and added: "All vengeance is unbalanced. Every vindictive man or woman is partly insane."

SHIP SPEEDS FIVE MILES A MINUTE

Navy Lieutenant Flies in Plane at Rate of 265 Miles An Hour.

Recognized as The Fastest Speed Ever Attained By Man.

MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., Nov 3. The fastest speed ever attained by man was made yesterday by Lieut. H. J. Brow, navy aviator, who flew over a three kilometer straight-away course four times at an average speed of 259.15 miles an hour. On one leg of the course he travelled at the phenomenal rate of 265.21 miles an hour.

Brow's record was attained in competition with Lieutenant A. J. Williams, former pitcher of the New York Giants baseball club, and winner of the Pulitzer race, both men flying navy Curtiss planes. Brow was second in the Pulitzer contest.

Brow went up first and set a pace of 257.42 miles an hour and Williams was soon in the air, intent on beating that record. When his plane reached the ground he found he had flown 258.61 miles an hour. As he was being congratulated by army officers and others who watched the speed trials, Brow ran to his plane.

"Whirl the propellor boys," he shouted to his mechanics, I'm going after it."

Five Miles a Minute.

The spectators held their breath as his plane shot through the air, and the thrill of the day came on the second leg, when, flying with the light wind that wafted over the army post field, he sent his machine at the breath-taking clip of nearly five miles a minute.

"It was almost unbelievable," said Major William N. Hensley, commanding officer at Mitchell field, who was in direct charge of the contests.

"Pretty good, Brow," said Williams as he congratulated his competitor, "but I'm going to beat it tomorrow."

Brow only smiled.

The contest was viewed by officials of the national aeronautic association and American representatives of the internation air federation. It was announced the record would have official recognition.

Classic On Kentucky Track Attracts Record Throng to Latonia

TALENT LEANS TO SINCLAIR FLYER

Betting Public Rates Zev as Likely Winner of Classic On Latonia Track.

Fast Workout By Grayson's My Own Whets Interest of Turf Followers.

BY JONATHAN BROOKS.

(International News Service.)

LATONIA, Ky., Nov. 3.—The world and Cincinnati can go about their business tonight for, by dusk, Zev, My Own, Rialto and In Memoriam will have decided the $50,000 Latonia championship, the world's 3-year-old title for 1923, and that little private row between the Sinclair and Grayson stables as well.

Zev, travelling in a style that would make the prince of Wales look like a steerage passenger, arrived here yesterday. So did Sam Hildreth, trainer, bringing Earl Sande, Zev's favorite pilot, and a spare jockey.

They landed in time to see My Own travel in 1:40 on a lightning fast track with an overweight jockey standing up and pulling the colt's head off to restrain him. Admiral Cary Grayson, friend and medical adviser to Woodrow Wilson and owner of My Own, saw the workout, which did not iscourage him in the least.

Teapot Dome Mere Piffle.

Harry Sinclair, who has been fooling around with little things like Teapot Dome when his colt, Zev, has a chance to boost his winnings to $315,073, did not arrive from the east until today.

The enormous crowd thronging over the Ohio river from early this morning, installed Zev favorite because of his known early speed and his ten successive victories this year, including that over Papyrus, the English champion.

But My Own was very close second in the betting, the Grayson colt having won all his six starts in 1923, impressively. Sentiment was with him, many turf fans still feeling that he should have had the honor of meeting Papyrus instead of Zev. Judgment, however, played Sinclair's black son of The Finn.

Rialto, son of Chicle, trained by Young Jimmy Rowe, and backed by the whole Whitney retinue, shared with In Memoriam, Carl Wiedemann's McGee colt, the position of outsider in the betting, although both were well played.

Track Lightning Fast.

Owners and trainers of all four colts this morning declared themselves pleased with the prospect for a fine, fast track. "No excuses," was the word all around. A fifth starter, one Taylor Hay, winner of a race somewhere last summer, was named through the entry box last night, causing some surprise and resentment.

The race, with four of the world's best colts slated, was regarded as no place for a selling-plater. Taylor Hay's owner evidently figured one of the four might break a leg or something, giving his colt fourth money.

Expert Opinion Divided.

Seldom has the middle west, always intent on the runners, been so wrought up over a horse race. Everywhere for days all the talk has been of Zev and My Own. Here opinion has been divided, some horsemen supporting Zev and others declaring that even Zev cannot win always. My Own, they said, had run the mile and three-quarters, and done it well. Zev had not essayed that long distance, his friends admitted. But he had done everything else so well he certainly could be expected to come through once more.

All the hotels within taxi distance of the track have been jammed for days, and all the railroad yards for miles around are filled with private cars whose passengers carry such eminent names as Whitney, Waterbury, Vanderbilt, Sinclair, Baruch and McLean.

Grand Island and York Collide In Scoreless Battle

(Special to The Star.)

Ty Cobb to Retire As Active Player

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 3.—Tyrus Cobb, who for 18 years has batted his way into the select circle of .300 hitters, has been quoted while here on a visit in his home state, as saying that next year probably would be his last as an active player.

The veteran manager of the Detroit Tigers, said that if his team suffered no injuries and if he could have the same lineup he had last year with which to start the 1924 season he would give the New York Yankees a battle for the next league pennant.

Huskers vs. Notre Dame In History

Scoreless Tie in 1918.

Notre Dame and Nebraska battled to a scoreless tie in 1918. The game was a rather uninteresting contest played in a sea of mud. A stretch ten yards wide down the center of the field was the only dry spot and both teams played ragged football.

Nebraska played a defensive game throughout, Dobson often punting on the first down. Halfback Barry of Notre Dame crossed the Nebraska goal, only to have the play called back and his team penalized because he was clinging to the belt strap of a man in the interference.

Statistics of the game show that Notre Dame completed eleven first downs, while Nebraska, which kicked persistently, failed to once make yardage. The lineup and summary of the 1918 game follows:

Wilber's undefeated team is the best in the history of the local athletics. In yesterday's game McCormick, quarterback, made four touchdowns. Pospisil, Apfelbek and Mares each crossed the Dewitt goal line once.

Football fans who have seen the Wilber team in action this season are enthusiastic over the showing made. Quarterback McCormick, Halfback Mares, Tackle Filipi as captain, and Fullback Kuzelka are the mainstays of the local lineup. (Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., Nov. 3.—Hastings college defeated Doane college, 13 to 6, on College field yesterday afternoon. The Broncho victory came in the last two minutes of play.

The winning play was a long pass, Stephens to Poore, the latter carrying the pigskin twenty-five yards to the final touchdown. Hastings secured a six-point lead in the first half by two dropkicks from Stephens' boot.

Doane scored a touchdown in the third period, but failed to boot the try-for-point.

Simon and Buck made most of the yardage for Doane. Stens and Beck made the most consistent gains for Hastings. The ability of Poore to nab passes factored in the victory.

BROKEN BOW HIGH TROUNCES AURORA

Custer County Grid Eleven Reels Off Victory By Score of 30 to 0.

By GREGG McBRIDE.

AURORA, Neb., Nov. 3.—The banner of Broken Bow high school waved triumphant after another football game yesterday when the Custer county champions smothered the championship aspirations of Aurora high in the homecoming game, 30 to 0. Broken Bow, in six games this year, has not met with a reverse and during the season has piled up a total of 160 points, while its goal line has not been crossed.

The swinging end runs and aerial play of the Broken Bow backfield fairly bewildered Aurora. Before the game was over four minutes old, a twenty-five yard forward pass, Robertson to Captain Skinner, sent the Broken Bow captain across the goal line with the first score. Early in the second quarter a short eight-yard pass of the Robertson-Skinner variety chalked up another touchdown.

Scores on Blocked Punt.

Davis' recovery of a blocked punt gave Broken Bow possession of the ball in the shadow of the Aurora goal posts shortly before the first half ended and Quarterback Owens carried the prolate spheroid across the final chalk mark, enabling Broken Bow to close the period with a 20 to 0 advantage.

A 15-yard dropkick by M. Young and Skinner's fifteen-yard off-tackle drive were the scoring activities of the closing periods.

Aurora's big chance to score came at the start of the fourth quarter. The Broken Bow forwards stiffened in the crisis and stopped the Aurora advance, taking possession of the ball on the Broken Bow one-yard line.

The Broken Bow team is a well-balanced aggregation. Captain Neal Skinner, one of the main cogs in the Custer county track team of last spring, is a potent factor in the work of the Custer county eleven, offensively and defensively. He loses none of his speed when he dons the moleskins and is also a bear at snaring forward passes. Coach "Jess" Willard uses him in the line or backfield to good advantage. Center Thompson and Tackle Melham are two of the out-standing performers in the line.

The Aurora team fought remarkably well for a green aggregation. Coach Eloe had but four letter men open the season, but has worked the forward wall into such shape that Broken Bow was forced to content itself with end runs and overhead play.

Captain Wayne Moore is the Aurora star. He weighs 178 pounds and has sufficient speed and change of pace to make him one of the leading backfield men in Nebraska high school football this season. He went into the game yesterday suffering from injuries which handicapped him in his punting and on drives through the line. Moore is also an open field runner of ability.

A crowd of more than 3,000 attended the game. It was homecoming day at Aurora and many high school grads returned for the game, participating in a big parade before the contest.

Broken Bow Rotarians and their families were the guests of the Aurora Rotary club during the day, the two organizations attending a big banquet in honor of the Aurora and Broken Bow football squads at the Presbyterian church last evening.

ALLIANCE, Neb., Nov. 3.—Beatrice high school defeated Alliance high here yesterday, 3 to 0. The game was played in a sea of mud which handicapped the light local team.

Three Knockouts On York Program

YORK, Neb., Nov. 3.—Fight fans of York failed to storm the box office Friday night, but those who witnessed the National Guard mitten program got their money's worth of fighting. Four bouts were on the card and three of them ended in knockouts. Bill Haberman handed a sleeping potion to Hoot Gould in round two, Jimmie Dale flattened Bob Ryan in the first frame and Mike Dale, York's slugging welter, smothered the aspirations of Mike Rozgall of Omaha in round seven. Rusty Evans, York, copped the decision from Terrible Crooks, Nebraska City, in eight rounds. Monte Munn of Lincoln officiated as referee.

CANADIAN HUSKY FURIOUS FIGHTER

Renault Pounds Johnson All Over Ring; Towel Tossed In Fifteenth Round.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Jack Renault, hard hitting Canadian heavyweight, lifted himself a notch higher in the heavyweight title contending class last night as a result of his technical knockout of Floyd Johnson of Iowa in the fifteenth and last round of a spectacular affray in Madison square garden.

Johnson, in defeat, probably gained more glory than his opponent did in victory, for the Iowan met his downfall with one of the most courageous exhibitions of all time. Any title aspirations Johnson may have entertained were blasted for all time, but though beaten into a bloody, helpless figure, he was still on his feet, trying by instinct to fight back when a towel came hurtling into the ring from his corner. That token of defeat came with but 31 seconds of the fight left.

Johnson's gameness and aggressiveness were his only assets. He showed no effective punch, whatever, while Renault, fighting coolly and shooting most of his blows with terrific power and deadly accuracy, has his opponent hanging on in the ninth, tenth and fourteenth rounds, as well as the last. The crowd, its sympathies with the young westerner, gave its biggest cheer to the vanquished, not the victor.

Godfrey Knocks Out Tate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—George Godfrey, negro heavyweight of Philadelphia, knocked out Bill Tate, Chicago negro, in the seventh round of a ten-round match, the semi-final bout of the heavyweight card at Madison Square Garden. Godfrey sent Tate down for the count of ten with a terrific left hook. Until then the pair had staged a slow, uninteresting encounter. Godfrey weighed 225½ and Tate 233 3-4.

Uni. Place High Wins First Grid Game of Season

University Place high school registered its first victory of the season when the suburbanites defeated Geneva high at Johnson Field, Friday afternoon, 21 to 0.

Butler and Starr featured the University Place victory. Starr reeled off several long gains on tackle-around plays, crossing the Geneva goal line on one trip.

University Place scored early in the first quarter. Geneva lost the ball on downs on its 10-yard line and Butler carried it across.

Geneva made a bid to score in the fourth quarter, when Acting Captain Weis intercepted a pass and ran twenty-five yards before Quarterback Dennis, playing safety, nailed him.

A few minutes Butler nabbed a Geneva pass and ran twenty-five yards to the Geneva 30-yard line. On the next play Starr, on a tackle-around, ran thirty yards to a touchdown.

Dennis carried the ball over for the third tally following a series of line smashes.

BOWL OVERFLOWS FOR ARMY AND ELI

Throng of 70,000 to Witness Gridiron Conflict On New Haven Rectangle.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

(International News Service.)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 3.—In wave upon wave of Army grey, the cadets of West Point marched today upon this staid, old college town and hopefully awaited the moment when their football team was to make a wholly laudable attempt to prove that the Army species is more deadly than the Yale. The occasion was the annual game between the Army and Yale and an overflowing bowl stood ready to support some 70,000 persons.

It was a classic occasion, in importance and colorful incident, second only to the glamorous meetings of the hallowed "Big Three" itself. When the bowl is overflowing, few finer spectacles are given to mortal man. When the blur of citizens' mufti is relieved by the Army grey and khaki, the scene might well inspire the brush of an old master.

Yale Has Edge In Record.

West Point has yet to gain a decision since the series was begun two years ago, the first game going to Yale at 14 to 7, and the second resulting in a 7 to 7 tie. Yet the impression prevailed that this was to be the Army's year. It holds the advantage in kicking, with Wood, one of the east's master punters, ready to waft his spirals high and far; it has a strong combination from tackle to tackle, and its backfield offense does not suffer in comparison with Yale's particularly since the addition of "Tiny" Hewitt, former Pitt star, has imparted a punch it hitherto lacked. Yale has the advantage of superior ends, an advantage that may nullify Wood's punting, and that of more drive to its running attack.

Bulldog Undefeated.

As on two former occasions, the Bulldog has come up to this meeting undefeated. The Army, on the other hand, lost to Notre Dame by two touchdowns. However, it is generally understood that it is no trick at all to lose to the Irish; it is almost automatic, in fact. Furthermore, the Army is believed to have a better team for the defeat.

In the matter of surplus strength, Yale is endowed far beyond the most elastic reach of the Army or any institution the country over. Even with the loss of O'Hearn, it has two sets of backs and, for the life of him, Tad Jones cannot decide which is the better—or the worse.

PERU WALKS ON COTNER BULLDOG

Bobcats Romp to Victory, 36 to 0, In Friday Fray On Bethany Grid.

Peru Normal took another forward step in the state college championship race by defeating Cotner college, Friday, at Bethany, 36 to 0.

The Normalites outclassed the Bulldogs all the way, negotiating twenty-two first downs, while Cotner made yardage but three times. Penalties set Peru back seventy yards, while Cotner drew twenty-five yards of penalties.

The Bulldogs put up a scrap during the first quarter which ended 6 to 0, in favor of Peru. Edie, Peru back, carried the ball over in the first four minutes of play.

Peru came back strong in the second quarter, the second period closing with Peru holding a 23 to 0 lead. A twenty-five-yard run by Edie and a sixty-five-yard run by Bell, after he had nabbed a Cotner forward pass, counted the touchdowns. Buettzenbaugh drop-kicked a field goal from the Cotner thirty-five-yard line during the first half.

YOUNG JAKE FAVORITE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Jake Schaefer of San Francisco, former champion, today rules as favorite in the third international 18.2 balk billiard championship tournament tournament with three victories to his credit and no defeats. He rounded a perfect score against the foreign invaders last night by defeating Erich Hagenlacher of Germany, 500 to 173, in 12 innings.

Tonight Schaefer will engage in a crucial test with Welker Cochran of Los Angeles, who gave Willie Hoppe, the defending chamion, his only defeat thus far.

If Schaefer is successful against Cochran tonight, Hoppe's only chance to retain the title will be by a victory over Schaefer.

Husker Athletes In Fall Cinder Compet

Eighty University of Nebraska athletes responded to the call of Coach Schulte for the first intramural track meet of the year, which was run off in the new stadium Saturday morning.

Timm won the 60-yard high hurdles in 8 2-5 seconds. Crites cleared the 120-yard low hurdles in 12 3-5 seconds. Zimmerman won both of the distance events. Hein stepped the 100-yard dash in 10 2-5 seconds. "Hobb" Turner, varsity jumper, cleared the bar at 6 feet in the high jump.

CLASH OF STARS ON EASTERN GRID

Bowman and Wilson Booked To Measure Skill In Archbold Stadium.

(Special to The Star.)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Those who go to Archbold Stadium today for the Syracuse-Penn State game to compare the work of Bowman and Wilson, the two outstanding halfbacks of the year in the east, do not want to overlook the two quarterbacks that will be leading their respective teams—Roy Simmons, the Chicago lad, and Mike Palm, whom Bezdek considers one of the best field generals he has ever coached.

Simmons is the first good quarterback Syracuse has had in years—in fact, since Coach Meehan himself was calling signals—and Orange followers believe him as keen a pilot as there is playing the game today. In addition, Simmons is the best defensive player on the squad and a strong runner with the ball.

For fans who love backfield action, the Syracuse-Penn State game should be a thriller, for, in Bowman, Zimmerman, McBride, Simmons and Foley, Syracuse has five stars of the first magnitude, while Penn State boasts of Palm, Light and the famous Wilson, all of whom are far above the average.

Tigers Tackle Kansas Ags.

MANHATTAN, Kans., Nov. 3.—A Missouri university team that showed its full strength for the first time this season in playing Nebraska's smashing machine to a standstill last Saturday and a Kansas Aggie squad that forced the University of Kansas players back near their goal posts, will clash here toady.

Coach Bachman of the Aggies has been training his men with a view to developing a winning punch which is said to have been lacking. The Aggies are expected to use the forward pass freely.

Iowa Aggies vs. Drake.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 3.—With two of the most evenly matched teams in their history trained to the best form of the season, the Drake university Bulldogs meets the Iowa State college Aggies of Ames here this afternoon in what will probably be an important factor in deciding this Missouri Valley championship.

The game winds up the homecoming celebration at Drake and Drake stadium will be bulging with alumni this afternoon, in addition to more than 2,000 fans from Ames. Ames and Drake bands led a huge procession through downtown streets this morning.

Jayhawks Mix With Sooners.

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 3.—The University of Kansas meets Oklahoma university here today in Oklahoma's annual homecoming football game. Both teams are pronounced ready for the fray. Kansas carries a slight edge over Oklahoma in the Missouri Valley conference race, having lost none of its games, while the Sooners have met defeat once, by Nebraska, last season's conference champions.

Illinois and Chicago.

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 3.—The Illinois and Chicago grid machines, both undefeated and keyed up to make a supreme effort, are awaiting the whistle here today to go into action before a record crowd. The assemblage is expected to number at least 64,000 rooters, attracted to Urbana and Champaign by the Illinois homecoming and the opening of the $2,000,000 memorial stadium.

From both camps comes word that the elevens are in top form. The Maroons were slightly downcast when it was announced that Harry Thomas, the regular right half, was below grade in studies and consequently ineligible for today's game.

Coach Zuppke has ceased worrying about his tackles and it is said Coach Stagg is well satisfied with his wingmen. Thus with all the weak spots plugged the contest, starting at 2 p. m., promises to be one of the most interesting of the season.

Dawson Scouting "Fighting Irish"

Notre Dame is not "doped" to show much of its best football stuff in trouncing the Purdue Boilermakers this afternoon on Notre Dame field. Such as Coach Rockne cares to show, however, will be duly inspected by Fred T. Dawson, head coach of the Nebraska Cornhuskers, who will perch himself in the Notre Dame press box and compile notes and charts of the "Irish" team's system of play. Captain Verne Lewellen, field pilot of the Cornhuskers, accompanied the head coach to South Bend.

The Nebraska coaching staff should have a fairly good line on Notre Dames' style, as two previous games by the Rockne clan have been scouted by Nebraska.

Owen Frank, backfield coach at Nebraska, was in charge of the Cornhusker squad's practice workout Friday and was again at the helm today.

FREMONT, Neb., Nov. 3.—Midland college, state college conference champion of 1922, bowed to a first defeat of the conference season yesterday when Grand Island college copped the heavy end of a 9 to 0 score.

It was a smashing battle in which both teams were penalized heavily. At the start of the second quarter, Odum, Grand Island halfback, drop-kicked a field goal from the Midland 21-yard line.

Classic On Kentucky Track Attracts Record Throng to Latonia

TALENT LEANS TO SINCLAIR FLYER

Betting Public Rates Zev as Likely Winner of Classic On Latonia Track.

Fast Workout By Grayson's My Own Whets Interest of Turf Followers.

BY JONATHAN BROOKS.

(International News Service.)

LATONIA, Ky., Nov. 3.—The world and Cincinnati can go about their business tonight for, by dusk, Zev, My Own, Rialto and In Memoriam will have decided the $50,000 Latonia championship, the world's 3-year-old title for 1923, and that little private row between the Sinclair and Grayson stables as well.

Zev, travelling in a style that would make the prince of Wales look like a steerage passenger, arrived here yesterday. So did Sam Hildreth, trainer, bringing Earl Sande, Zev's favorite pilot, and a spare jockey.

They landed in time to see My Own travel in 1:40 on a lightning fast track with an overweight jockey standing up and pulling the colt's head off to restrain him. Admiral Cary Grayson, friend and medical adviser to Woodrow Wilson and owner of My Own, saw the workout, which did not iscourage him in the least.

Teapot Dome Mere Piffle.

Harry Sinclair, who has been fooling around with little things like Teapot Dome when his colt, Zev, has a chance to boost his winnings to $315,073, did not arrive from the east until today.

The enormous crowd thronging over the Ohio river from early this morning, installed Zev favorite beaause of his known early speed and his ten successive victories this year, including that over Papyrus, the English champion.

But My Own was very close second in the betting, the Grayson colt having won all his six starts ii 1923 impressively. Sentiment was with him, many turf fans still feeling that he should have had the honor of meeting Papyrus instead of Zev. Judgment, however, played Sinclair's black son of The Finn.

Rialto, son of Chicle, trained by Young Jimmy Rowe, and backed by the whole Whitney retinue, shared with In Memoriam, Carl Wiedeman's McGee colt, the position of outsider in the betting, although both were well played.

Track Lightning Fast.

Owners and trainers of all four colts this morning declared themselves pleased with the prospect for a fine, fast track. "No excuses," was the word all around. A fifth starter, one Taylor Hay, winner of a race somewhere last summer, was named through the entry box last night, causing some surprise and resentment.

The race, with four of the world's best colts slated, was regarded as no place for a selling-plater. Taylor Hay's owner evidently figured one of the four might break a leg or something, giving his colt fourth money.

Expert Opinion Divided.

Seldom has the middle west, always intent on the runners, been so wrought up over a horse race. Everywhere for days all the talk has been of Zev and My Own. Here opinion has been divided, some horsemen supporting Zev and others declaring that even Zev cannot win always. My Own, they said, had run the mile and three-quarters, and done it well. Zev had not essayed that long distance, his friends admitted. But he had done everything else so well he certainly could be expected to come through once more.

All the hotels within taxi distance of the track have been jammed for days, and all the railroad yards for miles around are filled with private cars whose passengers carry such eminent names as Whitney, Waterbury, Vanderbilt, Sinclair, Baruch and McLean.

Grand Island and York Collide In Scoreless Battle

(Special to The Star.)

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Nov. 3.—Grand Island and York schools battled to a scoreless tie here yesterday.

A five-yard penalty when Grand Island was in the shadow of the York goal balked the locals in a drive toward a touchdown. Honors were about even throughout the game.

Kearney Defeats Lexington.

KEARNEY, Neb., Nov. 3.—Kearney high school defeated Lexington in football here yesterday, 6 to 0. Easterling carried the ball over during the third quarter for the winning touchdown.

Hastings Trims Cambridge.

CAMBRIDGE, Neb., Nov. 3.—Hastings remains undefeated as a result of a 14 to 3 victory over Cambridge here yesterday. Hastings scored one touchdown on a long forward pass and the other on an intercepted pass. Cambridge held the edge during the final half, but could not uncork the winning punch. Carroll dropkicked from the field during the last quarter for Cambridge's three points.

Ty Cobb to Retire As Active Player

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 3.—Tyrus Cobb, who for 18 years has batted his way into the select circle of .300 hitters, has been quoted while here on a visit in his home state, as saying that next year probably would be his last as an active player.

The veteran manager of the Detroit Tigers, said that if his team suffered no injuries and if he could have the same lineup he had last year with which to start the 1924 season he would give the New York Yankees a battle for the next league pennant.

Huskers vs. Notre Dame In History

Scoreless Tie in 1918.

Notre Dame and Nebraska battled to a scoreless tie in 1918. The game was a rather uninteresting contest played in a sea of mud. A stretch ten yards wide down the center of the field was the only dry spot and both teams played ragged football.

Nebraska played a defensive game throughout, Dobson often punting on the first down. Halfback Barry of Notre Dame crossed the Nebraska goal, only to have the play called back and his team penalized because he was clinging to the belt strap of a man in the interference.

Statistics of the game show that Notre Dame completed eleven first downs, while Nebraska, which kicked persistently, failed to once make yardage. The lineup and summary of the 1918 game follows:

State Title Aspirants Pile Touchdowns and Victory In Friday Fray.

(Special to The Star)

WILBER, Neb., Nov. 3.—Wilber high school kept its slate clean in the race for the state title by smothering Dewitt yesterday before a large crowd here, 71 to 6.

It was the first time Wilber has been scored upon this year. Dewitt's lone touchdown came at the start of the second quarter and was made possible by a long pass Stahley of Presnell.

Wilber's undefeated team is the best in the history of the local athletics. In yesterday's game McCormick, quarterback, made four touchdowns. Pospisil, Apfelbek and Mares each crossed the Dewitt goal line once.

Doane scored a touchdown in the third period, but failed to boot the try-for-point.

Simon and Buck made most of the yardage for Doane. Stens and Beck made the most consistent gains for Hastings. The ability of Poore to nab passes factored in the victory.

BROKEN BOW HIGH TROUNCES AURORA

Custer County Grid Eleven Reels Off Victory By Score of 30 to 0.

By GREGG McBRIDE.

AURORA, Neb., Nov. 3.—The banner of Broken Bow high school waved triumphant after another football game yesterday when the Custer county champions smothered the championship aspirations of Aurora high in the homecoming game, 30 to 0. Broken Bow, in six games this year, has not met with a reverse and during the season has piled up a total of 160 points, while its goal line has not been crossed.

The swinging end runs and aerial play of the Broken Bow backfield fairly bewildered Aurora. Before the game was over four minutes old, a twenty-five yard forward pass, Robertson to Captain Skinner, sent the Broken Bow captain across the goal line with the first score. Early in the second quarter a short eight-yard pass of the Robertson-Skinner variety chalked up another touchdown.

Scores on Blocked Punt.

Davis' recovery of a blocked punt gave Broken Bow possession of the ball in the hadow of the Aurora goal posts shortly before the first half ended and Quarterback Owens carried the prolate spheroid across the final chalk mark, enabling Broken Bow to close the period with a 20 to 0 advantage.

A 15-yard dropkick by M. Young and Skinner's fifteen-yard off-tackle drive were the scoring activities of the closing periods.

Aurora's big chance to score came at the start of the fourth quarter. The Broken Bow forwards stiffened in the crisis and stopped the Aurora advance, taking possession of the ball on the Broken Bow one-yard line.

The Broken Bow team is a well-balanced aggregation. Captain Neal Skinner, one of the main cogs in the Custer county track team of last spring, is a potent factor in the work of the Custer county eleven, offensively and defensively. He loses none of his speed when he dons the moleskins and is also a bear at snaring forward passes. Coach "Jess" Willard uses him in the line or backfield to good advantage. Center Thompson and Tackle Melham are two of the out-standing performers in the line.

The Aurora team fought remarkably well for a green aggregation. Coach Eloe had but four letter men open the season, but has worked the forward wall into such shape that Broken Bow was forced to content itself with end runs and overhead play.

Captain Wayne Moore is the Aurora star. He weighs 178 pounds and has sufficient speed and change of pace to make him one of the leading backfield men in Nebraska high school football this season. He went into the game yesterday suffering from injuries which handicapped him in his punting and on drives through the line. Moore is also an open field runner of ability.

A crowd of more than 3,000 attended the game. It was homecoming day at Aurora and many high school grads returned for the game, participating in a big parade before the contest.

Broken Bow Rotarians and their families were the guests of the Aurora Rotary club during the day, the two organizations attending a big banquet in honor of the Aurora and Broken Bow football squads at the Presbyterian church last evening.

Three Knockouts On York Program

YORK, Neb., Nov. 3.—Fight fans of York failed to storm the box office Friday night, but those who witnessed the National Guard mitten program got their money's worth of fighting. Four bouts were on the card and three of them ended in knockouts. Bill Haberman handed a sleeping potion to Hoot Gould in round two, Jimmie Dale flattened Bob Ryan in the first frame and Mike Dale, York's slugging welter, smothered the aspirations of Mike Rozgall of Omaha in round seven. Rusty Evans, York, copped the decision from Terrible Crooks, Nebraska City, in eight rounds. Monte Munn of Lincoln officiated as referee.

CANADIAN HUSKY FURIOUS FIGHTER

Renault Pounds Johnson All Over Ring; Towel Tossed In Fifteenth Round.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Jack Renault, hard hitting Canadian heavyweight, lifted himself a notch higher in the heavyweight title contending class last night as a result of his technical knockout of Floyd Johnson of Iowa in the fifteenth and last round of a spectacular affray in Madison square garden.

Johnson, in defeat, probably gained more glory than his opponent did in victory, for the Iowan met his downfall with one of the most courageous exhibitions of all time. Any title aspirations Johnson may have entertained were blasted for all time, but though beaten into a bloody, helpless figure, he was still on his feet, trying by instinct to fight back when a towel came hurtling into the ring from his corner. That token of defeat came with but 31 seconds of the fight left.

Johnson's gameness and aggressiveness were his only assets. He showed no effective punch, whatever, while Renault, fighting coolly and shooting most of his blows with terrific power and deadly accuracy, has his opponent hanging on in the ninth, tenth and fourteenth rounds, as well as the last. The crowd, its sympathies with the young westerner, gave its biggest cheer to the van quished, not teh victor.

Godfrey Knocks Out Tate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—George Godfrey, negro heavyweight of Philadelphia, knocked out Bill Tate, Chicago negro, in the seventh round of a ten-round match, the semi-final bout of the heavyweight card at Madison Square Garden. Godfrey sent Tate down for the count of ten with a terrific left hook. Until then the pair had staged a slow, uninteresting encounter. Godfrey weighed 225½ and Tate 233 3-4.

Uni. Place High Wins First Grid Game of Season

University Place high school registered its first victory of the season when the suburbanites defeated Geneva high at Johnson Field, Friday afternoon, 21 to 0.

Butler and Starr featured the University Place victory. Starr reeled off several long gains on tackle-around plays, crossing the Geneva goal line on one trip.

University Place scored early in the first quarter. Geneva lost the ball on downs on its 10-yard line and Butler carried it across.

Geneva made a bid to score in the fourth quarter, when Acting Captain Weis intercepted a pass and ran twenty-five yards before Quarterback Dennis, playing safety, nailed him.

A few minutes Butler nabbed a Geneva pass and ran twenty-five yards to the Geneva 30-yard line. On the next play Starr, on a tackle-around, ran thirty yards to a touchdown.

Dennis carried the ball over for the third tally following a series of line smashes.

BOWL OVERFLOWS FOR ARMY AND ELI

Throng of 70,000 to Witness Gridiron Conflict On New Haven Rectangle.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

(International News Service.)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 3.—In wave upon wave of Army grey, the cadets of West Point marched today upon this staid, old college town and hopefully awaited the moment when their football team was to make a wholly laudable attempt to prove that the Army species is more deadly than the Yale. The occasion was the annual game between the Army and Yale and an overflowing bowl stood ready to support some 70,000 persons.

It was a classic occasion, in importance and colorful incident, second only to the glamorous meetings of the hallowed "Big Three" itself. When the bowl is overflowing, few finer spectacles are given to mortal man. When the blur of citizens' mufti is relieved by the Army grey and khaki, the scene might well inspire the brush of an old master.

Yale Has Edge In Record.

West Point has yet to gain a decision since the series was begun two years ago, the first game going to Yale at 14 to 7, and the second resulting in a 7 to 7 tie. Yet the impression prevailed that this was to be the Army's year. It holds the advantage in kicking, with Wood, one of the east's master punters, ready to waft his spirals high and far; it has a strong combination from tackle to tackle, and its backfield offense does not suffer in comparison with Yale's particularly since the addition of "Tiny" Hewitt, former Pitt star, has imparted a punch it hitherto lacked. Yale has the advantage of superior ends, an advantage that may nullify Wood's punting, and that of more drive to its running attack.

Bulldog Undefeated.

As on two former occasions, the Bulldog has come up to this meeting undefeated. The Army, on the other hand, lost to Notre Dame by two touchdowns. However, it is generally understood that it is no trick at all to lose to the Irish; it is almost automatic, in fact. Furthermore, the Army is believed to have a better team for the defeat.

In the matter of surplus strength, Yale is endowed far beyond the most elastic reach of the Army or any institution the country over. Even with the loss of O'Hearn, it has two sets of backs and, for the life of him, Tad Jones cannot decide which is the better—or the worse.

PERU WALKS ON COTNER BULLDOG

Bobcats Romp to Victory, 36 to 0, In Friday Fray On Bethany Grid.

Peru Normal took another forward step in the state college championship race by defeating Cotner college, Friday, at Bethany, 36 to 0. The Normalites outclassed the Bulldogs all the way, negotiating twenty-two first downs, while Cotner made yardage but three times. Penalties set Peru back seventy yards, while Cotner drew twenty-five yards of penalties.

The Bulldogs put up a scrap during the first quarter which ended 6 to 0, in favor of Peru. Edie, Peru back, carried the ball over in the first four minutes of play.

Peru came back strong in the second quarter, the second period closing with Peru holding a 23 to 0 lead. A twenty-five-yard run by Edie and a sixty-five-yard run by Bell, after he had nabbed a Cotner forward pass, counted the touchdowns. Buettzenbaugh drop-kicked a field goal from the Cotner thirty-five-yard line during the first half.

YOUNG JAKE FAVORITE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Jake Schaefer of San Francisco, former champion, today rules as favorite in the third international 18.2 balk billiard championship tournament tournament with three victories to his credit and no defeats. Husker Athletes In Fall Cinder Compet

Eighty University of Nebraska athletes responded to the call of Coach Schulte for the first intramural track meet of the year, which was run off in the new stadium Saturday morning.

Timm won the 60-yard high hurdles in 8 2-5 seconds. Crites cleared the 120-yard low hurdles in 12 3-5 seconds. Zimmerman won both of the distance events. Hein stepped the 100-yard dash in 10 2-5 seconds. "Hobb" Turner, varsity jumper, cleared the bar at 6 feet in the high jump.

CLASH OF STARS ON EASTERN GRID

Bowman and Wilson Booked To Measure Skill In Archbold Stadium.

(Special to The Star.)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Those who go to Archbold Stadium today for the Syracuse-Penn State game to compare the work of Bowman and Wilson, the two outstanding halfbacks of the year in the east, do not want to overlook the two quarterbacks that will be leading their respective teams—Roy Simmons, the Chicago lad, and Mike Palm, whom Bezdek considers one of the best field generals he has ever coached.

Simmons is the first good quarterback Syracuse has had in years—in fact, since Coach Meehan himself was calling signals—and Orange followers believe him as keen a pilot as there is playing the game today. In addition, Simmons is the best defensive player on the squad and a strong runner with the ball.

For fans who love backfield action, the Syracuse-Penn State game should be a thriller, for, in Bowman, Zimmerman, McBride, Simmons and Foley, Syracuse has five stars of the first magnitude, while Penn State boasts of Palm, Light and the famous Wilson, all of whom are far above the average.

Tigers Tackle Kansas Ags.

MANHATTAN, Kans., Nov. 3.—A Missouri university team that showed its full strength for the first time this season ii playing Nebraska's smashing machine to a standstill last Saturday and a Kansas Aggie squad that forced the University of Kansas players back near their goal posts, will clash here toady.

Coach Bachman of the Aggies has been training his men with a view to developing a winning punch which is said to have been lacking. The Aggies are expected to use the forward pass freely.

Iowa Aggies vs. Drake.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 3.—With two of the most evenly matched teams in their history trained to the best form of the season, the Drake university Bulldogs meets the Iowa State college Aggies of Ames here this afternoon in what will probably be an important factor in deciding this Missouri Valley championship.

The game winds up the homecoming celebration at Drake and Drake stadium will be bulging with alumni this afternoon, in addition to more than 2,000 fans from Ames. Ames and Drake bands led a huge procession through downtown streets this morning.

Jayhawks Mix With Sooners.

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 3.—The University of Kansas meets Oklahoma university here today ii Oklahoma's annual homecoming football game. Both teams are pronounced ready for the fray. Kansas carries a slight edge over Oklahoma in the Missouri Valley conference race, having lost none of its games, while the Sooners have met defeat once, by Nebraska, last season's conference champions.

Illinois and Chicago.

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 3.—The Illinois and Chicago grid machines, both undefeated and keyed up to make a supreme effort, are awaiting the whistle here today to get into action before a record crowd. The assemblage is expected to number at least 64,000 rooters, attracted to Urbana and Champaign by the Illinois homecoming and the opening of the $2,000,000 memorial stadium.

From both camps comes word that the elevens are in top form. The Maroons were slightly downcast when it was announced that Harry Thomas, the regular right half, was below grade in studies and consequently ineligible for today's game.

Coach Zuppke has ceased worrying about his tackles and it is said Coach Stagg is well satisfied with his wingmen. Thus with all the weak spots plugged the contest, starting at 2 p. m., promises to be one of the most interesting of the season.

Dawson Scouting "Fighting Irish"

Notre Dame is not "doped" to show much of its best football stuff in trouncing the Purdue Boilermakers this afternoon on Notre Dame field. Such as Coach Rockne cares to show, however, will be duly inspected by Fred T. Dawson, head coach of the Nebraska Cornhuskers, who will perch himself in the Notre Dame press box and compile notes and charts of the "Irish" team's system of play. Captain Verne Lewellen, field pilot of the Cornhuskers, accompanied the head coach to South Bend.

The Nebraska coaching staff should have a fairly good line on Notre Dames' style, as two previous games by the Rockne clan have been scouted by Nebraska.

Owen Frank, backfield coach at Nebraska, was in charge of the Cornhusker squad's practice workout Friday and was again at the helm today.

AMENDING THE VOLSTEAD LAW

If the cabled reports of the treaty just negotiated by Ambassador Harvey with Great Britain are accurate, an interesting situation is certain to arise. The treaty is for the purpose of aiding the United States in suppressing the smuggling of liquor into this country and provides that foreign vessels suspected of carrying intoxicants with intent of landing them on American soil may be searched even outside the three mile limit.

Great Britain does not yield this point, however, without receiving something in return, and that thing is considered very valuable. Her vessels are to be allowed to bring liquors under seal into American ports, thus being able to supply thirsty passengers on the return voyage, as well as on the trip over. This is considered as giving British boats a tremendous advantage over those of America and reports are already coming out of Washington to the effect that drys as well as wets will attempt to defeat the treaty.

It is of course, understood that the agreement is in direct violation of the Volstead act as interpreted by the United States supreme court. The high tribunal held that under the law liquors could not be brought into American waters, even under seal, and that prohibition enforcement officers were justified in boarding foreign vessels and seizing such intoxicants as were found on them.

It is evident, however, that the ruling powers expect to have the law modified, notwithstanding the persistent and emphatic declarations to the effect that this could not be done. If the treaty which has just been negotiated shall be ratified by the senate to a two-thirds vote this will have the effect of amending the law to conform with the treaty. Otherwise the Volstead act must be amended by a majority vote in each house.

Reports coming out from Washington would seem to indicate that the prohibition enforcement act will not be amended by the senate in the manner mentioned. Too may interests will oppose it. Ship operators will put up a streuous fight against giving what they believe to be a big advantage to foreign vessels. Drys will fight any amendment to the act and especially one which presents possibilities for smuggling said by some to be greater than those existing at present, while the wets will oppose it for the same reason the shipping interests do and for the further one that they do not want the law amended unless they can have something to do with framing the amendment.

Ambassador Harvey's last official act promises to stir up more of a commotion than any other thing done by him while abroad.

MESSAGES FROM THE DEAD.

New York papers have been giving considerable space to the attempt made by the Rev. Mrs. Josi K. Stewart, pastor of the First Independent church at Cleveland, Ohio, to win the $2,500 prize offered by the Scientific American for anyone who will give a satisfactory production of objective psychic phenomena before the executive staff of that paper.

After three unsuccessful attempts to produce written messages on cards between which she pressed flowers and ferns, Mrs. Stewart succeeded on the fourth attempt in producing six written messages, writen in pink and heliotrope and carrying brief messages each from spirits of well known people both dead and living. So successful was she in this fourth attempt that the more skeptical reporters for the New York papers were somewhat impressed and the committee issued a preliminary statement which seemed at the time to indicate that Mrs. Stewart had won the prize money.

The story was all exploded a day later, however, when the officials holding the tests announced that they had caught Mrs. Stewart in trickery and that her messages were produced on cards brought to the seances already prepared. They disclosed that after the first unsuccessful seances when Mrs. Stewart tore up a number of the soiled cards, that five cards were missing from those remaining, plus those scraped. This was carefully ascertained by weights. At the second seance the remaining cards—Mrs. Stewart asked that the same cards be used each time because they were then "magnetized"—were marked and Mrs. Stewart evidently discovered the mark, in the opinion of the examiners and so failed to use the cards she had secured from copying the purloined samples.

The fourth seance was held in the open, in a garden near New York. This time the remaining cards had been carefully trimmed so that they were thinner by an infinitesimal fraction and slightly smaller than before. Mrs. Stewart was searched but had an opportunity in the opinion of the judges to secure the cards after the search. A reporter's heavy German overcoat, which he humorously valued at 150,000,000,000 marks, was borrowed because the demonstrator complained of being cold and watchers thought they detected her sleight of hand performance then, but said nothing.

As told above, she produced six messages. Many were convinced of the genuineness of the demonstration and the judges themselves gave out a guarded statement showing that they were not certain as to how far they might have been tricked and how nearly the medium might have proved her claims.

Then they measured and weighed and examined the cards. They found the message cards different in size, weight and color, and agreed unanimously that Mrs. Stewart had merely demonstrated again that the hand is quicker than the eye. They ruled her out without a quibble and announced to the world that her spirit writing was a trick. The offer of a $2,500 prize for the first objective psychic phenomena still stands.

Mrs. Stewart attracted the attention of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle while the latter was in Cleveland and although he never witnessed a demonstration he urged her to appear before the board of the Scientific American to show her ability to receive messages from the dead.

THE CITY SCALES.

Commissioner Cowgill does not seem to have the same idea that we have as to the purpose of the city scales. He has stated on numerous occasions that he desires to have coal dealers keep their wagons away from the city scales and sell from their own weights, leaving the municipal scales free to the municipal coal yard only, so far as weighing coal is concerned.

Mr. Cowgill apparently forgets that the city scales were established and are maintained for the protection and benefit of the public and not for the comfort and convenience of any coal dealer, the municipal coal yard included. The coal dealers who wish to weigh over the city scales should be encouraged, not discouraged. They pay for the privilege and the customers are assured of correct weights and full measure. Just why Mr. Cowgill should wish to drive all private coal dealers away from the city scales is not apparent but his unfriendly attitude and openly harsh criticism of those who do business over the city scales has left no doubt as to his wish to reserve the scales for his own coal department.

Had Mr. Cowgill investigated the ordinances before he arrested a coal dealer at the scales house and confiscated his books, bringing both the dealer and the weighmaster before the commission, he might have been more cautious. He discovers now, after the rumpus that the weighmaster and not he was actually in charge of the market square and scales house and that he was in a way a trespasser there when he staged his "raid."

No one will argue in favor of letting itinerant coal merchants if there be any, use the market square to sell coal to prospective municipal coal yard patrons through misrepresentation, but no one with any idea of the fundamental reasons for a city scales and weighmaster will agree that coal dealers or dealers in any commodity which is sold by weight should be discouraged in their willingness to weigh on the city scales. That is a protection to the public and merchants who are willing to sell by such weight are to be congratulated—and approved.

Factory Social is Given at Y. M. C. A.

About fifty employes of Curtis Towle & Paine and their families were entertained by the industrial department of the Y. M. C. A., at a factory social Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. building.

The program started at 7:30 and consisted of a violin solo by A. Walters of Curtis Towle and Paine. Mr. Walters used an instrument of his own making. Jack Welch gave an exhibition of baton twirling. Morris N. Adams, chairman of the industrial department, welcomed the guests. Another feature of the program was an industrial picture showing the manufacture and testing of automobiles.

The party then made an inspection trip through the building. Following this the guests were taken to the Red room where games were played until 9:30.

MIDDLETON SINGS TO BIG AUDIENCE

Lincoln Music Lovers Fill the Auditorium to Hear Famous Bass-Baritone.

A capacity house greeted Arthur Middleton the famous bass-baritone singer when he appeared in concert at the city auditorium Friday evening.

To say that Mr Middleton's voice was unusual would be expressing it mildly. It was superb His range was almost super-human for his bass tones were as deep and full as his high baritone was sweet and clear

His program, while it showed his voice to advantage, was not the sort that appealed especially to the audience. The larger portion of it seemed too cold for such a warm, rich voice, but nevertheless the artist was called and re-called for encores.

In place of "Vittoria," by Carissimi, Mr. Middleton gave the Largo al factotum, from the Barber of Seville, which was received most enthusiastically by his audience.

His first number, a recitative "From the Rage of the Tempest" aria, "Hear me ye Winds and Waves," by Handel, was a wonderful thing, and Mr. Middleton interpreted it splendidly.

The group of "Salt Water Ballads," by Keel, was vastly different to anything that has been given by artists recently, and was heartily applauded by the audience.

His last group was the most appealing to the general audience. The songs were sweet and yet had character. "Sylvia" by Speaks, and "Mandalay," also by Speaks, were possibly the two favorites.

Mr. Middleton responded with four encores, "Where e're You Walk," from Handel's "Semele," after the first aria. "Me an' My Little Banjo," followed the second group. Metcal's "Absent," an old favorite, was given after the Barber of Seville, and Bell's arrangement of Kipling's "Follow Me 'ome," was the encore after the group of Salt Water Ballads.

The artist did not respond after the last group, possibly because many of the audience had risen almost before his last number was completed. There is seldom an artist who does not respond with at least one closing encore unless his audience is not courteous enough to remain seated until after his final appearance.

Masked Men Lynch Prisoner In Oklahoma

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 3.—Eleven masked men overpowered guards in McIntosh county jail at Eufaula, south of here, today, seized Dallas Howell, accused of attacking a woman, and lynched him, according to word received here.

Telephone wires leading to this city were cut by the lynchers, forestalling pursuit. Howell's body was found hanging in a barn near Eufaula by officers who followed the lynching party.

Howell recently was returned to Eufaula after having escaped from Sheriff M. B. Moore, while being taken from Muskogee to Eufaula for preliminary hearing. Previously he had been brought here for safe keeping, when it was feared mob violence against Howell might precipitate martial law.

Nebraska Press

Making Criminals.

(Nebraska City Press.)

The Norfolk News comments sensibly on the habit some communities have of "passing on" some criminal to another community. For instance, a man is arrested and held in jail for a few days, where he is fed and lodged at the public expense. A compromise is effected and he is released on the promise that he will "leave town." And then he trots on to some other community where he has a chance to do it all over again.

That scheme has been successfully worked in hundreds of communities. We have even seen it applied in our well-regulated municipality. A pauper family arrives, "dead broke," hungry and in distress. The authorities buy transportation to a nearby town and the travelers are sent on, to receive the tender mercies of the next "goat" along the line. It is a practice which is engaged in for the benefit of the taxpayer in whose name many a little white fib is told, many a misdemeanor committed.

Frankly, there is at hand no suggested solution. All we know is that such things do happen. Possibly, for that matter, many of the folks who are arrested here on charges of vagrancy may have been sent to us gratuitously by some other community. It isn't a pretty practice, but it seems to be universally indulged in. As for the folks who receive the bounty, the probably enjoy the experience of seeing the world at the collective expense of Mr. Taxpayer.

Advice for Coolidge.

(Mason City Transcript.

The president intimates that conditions generally in this country are satisfactory. That sounds good, We are iot doing any kicking ourself. But with all due regard to the wisdom of the president, we suggest that he get busy, put the government machinery into energetic motion see that federal laws are impartially enforced against rich and poor alike (something that has not been done in many a day) keep the freight cars moving, hold big business down to a reasonable profit, curb the profiteers, jail the crook, and give the little fellow a square deal. If we will do these things business will be more than satisfactory, and we will willingly call him something besides "Silent Cal."

RAILWAY MOTOR CARS.

(Harvard Courier.)

It is said that the Burlington is contemplating buying a flock of high powered motor cars to use in competing with bus lines. Why not! Railroad motors can be used in all kinds of weather and special schedules can be arranged between population centers that would be better than any bus line can possibly provide. Railroad motors would also be much more comfortable to ride in than motor busses. Looks like the railroads have the solution of the bus problem entirely in their own hands if they want to use it. They might also provide big motor driven trucks to handle short haul freight.

TEACHERS HOLD FINAL SESSION OF CONVENTION

District One of State Association Closes Annual Meeting Saturday.

Pass Resolutions Approving Work of Legion and Parent-Teachers Group.

The final session of district No. 1, Nebraska State Teachers' association was held Saturday morning in the auditorium of St. Paul's church, following the adoption of resolutions thanking the various interests in Lincoln that "made for the success of the convention." Among these were the Lincoln chamber of commerce, the newspapers, churches, Boy Scouts. Another resolution approved the Americanization program of the American legion, and the work of the Parent-Teachers association, in promoting the welfare of the child of school age.

The morning session of the association was given over to two addresses, one by Dr. J. O. Engleman, field secretary of the national Educational association, who discussed "Meeting a Felt Need," and "New Problems of Education Precipitated by New Times," discussed by Professor M. V. O'Shea, of the University of Wisconsin, at Madison.

In his address Dr. Engleman pointed out that a great need felt by educators today in the successful carrying on of the work by educators as a whole, is religion, knowledge and morality. He said that without these three "necessary" elements no teacher can give the best he or she may have to the child being taught.

If the teacher desires to send the pupil forward to eventually go out and take its place in the battle of life it must have an education builded on the elements of religion, knowledge and morality.

Says Chivalry Needed.

Sounding a warning that there is danger of the disintegration of present day society and of a falling back of the American form of civilization, Professor O'Shea declared "there must be a change from the present tendency of old and young alike, to seek the emotional. There must be a change in the style of the moving picture and there must be a change in the style of dancing." One of the greatest things we need today, he said is more of the chivalry of the old days. The chivalry of the days of the Virginia reel and the early Colonial days.

The speaker said he did not believe the United States was going to pieces, but emphasied the dangers that he might better impress upon the mind of teachers the necessity for holding in check the emotions of the children that their learning periods may be lengthened.

Mr. O'Shea declared that as the learning period of children is shortened, so is the civilization of the nation shortened until it is shattered and falls. He pointed out that as the learning period of the children of a nation is lengthened so does the civilization of that nation grow and enlarge.

The early arrest of the mental growth of children is a tragedy, the speaker declared, and he said that while he did not believe there was any great tendency to a checking in America it was time that educators were taking steps to guard against the same kind of tragedies that have overtaken some of the oldest nations in Europe.

MELLON WILL NOT REPLY TO PINCHOT

Feels Further "Debate" On Prohibition Question Is Useless.

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Secretary Mellon has decided to continue no further controversy on prohibition enforcement initiated by Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

In a statement published today the secretary presented for the judgment of public opinion a report on the treasury's efforts to discharge the task of "supreme difficulty," and added that "all persons interested in law enforcement will see the futility" of further controversy with Mr. Pinchot.

Enforcement of the dry laws can be accomplished, Mr. Mellon said, if two primary conditions were met—expension of the enforcement machinery, which means large apropriations and "more active" co-operation by local authorities.

NEBRASKA BUREAU OPPOSES CHANGE IN CAPPER ACT

Farm Federation Against Amendments to Present Measure.

Field Representative Of Washington Office Meets Local Officers.

Officers of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation met with Chester Grey, field representative of the Washington office of the Federation, Friday night at the Lincoln hotel for a discussion of the Federation's legislative program for the coming year. Mr. Grey is making a survey of the general attitude of the various state organizations in regard to a number of issues that are expected to come up during the next congressional session. Among the officers present were H. R. Keefe president of the state organization and C. B. Steward, secretary; and J. M. Norton of Polk, member of the executive board.

The Nebraska federation went on record as strongly opposing any change or modification of the Capper-Tincher act. This act gives the secretary of agriculture a certain control over the contract grain markets and eliminates speculative buying. The purpose of the act is to eliminate this speculation.

Certain grain interests are attempting to do away with this provision, according to Mr. Steward. "These interests have for some time attempted to spread propaganda among the farmers to the effect that this act has been one of the chief causes for the drop of grain prices," said Mr. Steward. They have attempted to create a public opinion that it was this speculation which stablized the markets.

A second point brought out by the federation was its desire for the modification of section 15 of the Esch-Cummins act, which provides for the fixing of freight rates on a basis of the railroad valuation. The federation's objection to this is that it claims that the farmers are compelled to pay excessive rates on an inflated valuation.

Against Sales Tax:

A third issue to which the federation declared its opposition is luxury taxation or any taxation which throws the burden of the taxes on the consumer rather than on the accumulated capital. "The Federation is against any taxation which smacks of sales tax," said Steward.

Likewise the federation opposes any form of price-fixing by the government. "There is no end to price fixing once it has started. So many things affect the prices of commodities that it is impossible to fix one price with a fairness to all," he said.

The Federation backed up Henry Ford to the fullest extent in his proposition concerning Mussle Shoals. The federation wants congress to settle the question rather than Secretary Weeks. It is opposed to any such transactions such as the sale to the Alabama Power company. It is not for selling Muscle Shoals to Ford but for the conservation of the natural resources for the people.

In regard to the immigration question it wants the three per cent allotment based on the 1890 census of foreign population which would increase the Anglo-Saxon quota and decrease that of the Latin nations.

Girl's Problems A Business

DANGER

An Absorbing New Serial

BY HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR.

(Copyright, 1923, by Public Ledger Co.)

Marian Colby is in love with her married employer, Alec Holden. Harriet, Alec's wife, has for years lived a life apart from him and when he discovers Marian's love for him, an emotion he has starved for years springs up in his heart. He begins to depend on Marian's society, and his best friend, Richard Endicott, whom Marian dislikes, suspects that something is wrong. Marian tells her mother of her friendship with Holden and Mrs. Colby is shocked.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

Alec Thinks It Over.

Having left Marian the night before, Alec went home to the apartment on Park avenue. He sat for a long time in the library, stretched out in his favorite chair, dreaming on the events of the evening. Marian was still with him, and one fact was clear to him, he wanted her, he needed her in his life, with her he could begin over again, and together they could find happiness.

His eyes wandered around the great silent room, taking in the richness of the furnishings, the warmth of embroidered velour, the thick softness of Oriental rugs. He had achieved all this, he had been what the world calls a success, and he had surrounded Harriet and Eleanor with every luxury. Whatever happened, they should not suffer, he would see that their lives went on as usual, he would provide them with all the money they wanted, and they would be content.

Clearly and without bitterness, he reviewed his life with Harriet. From the very first she had repelled his ardor, she had shuddered away from his attempted love-making. In Harriet's scheme of things a woman must marry, any woman who did not acquire a husband found herself inconvenienced in many ways, and so she had taken him on as she might have acquired a new piece of furniture. A carefully handled divorce would cause her no pangs of unhappiness, she would not suffer. To be sure the thought of losing him might inconvenience her. It would be necessary to readjust her life, and he would be missing a convenient escort but that was all.

Alec's thoughts passed from Harriet to Eleanor and here, too, he could find no reason for continuing with things as they were. Until recently he and Eleanor had been strangers. He did not count in her life save as a payer of bills, some one to pull her out of a hole when she had been too extravagant. There had never been any intimacy between them. As a child he had hardly seen her and Harriet had never asked his advice as to her upbringing. What would it mean to Eleanor to lose her father? Nothing at all, if she were assured that her bills would be paid in the future just as they had been paid in the past

And yet—Alec's thoughts flew to that day when he had lunched with Eleanor. He remembered the feeling of pride he had felt in her gay impertinences and the resolution he had made to attempt a closer intimacy with his daughter. He had enjoyed her companionship and he remembered thinking it an improvement on the old relationship between father and daughter. Less of the parent and more of the friend, had been the thought that had darted through his mind, but now as the memory of that day became clearer he suddenly remembered the occasion for that lunch. Eleanor had over-drawn her account, she had needed money and she doubtless jollied him along because he had been agreeable about giving it to her, that was all.

The more he thought about his wife and daughter, the more purposeless his life became. After all, he was young, only 42, there were years of active life ahead of him, and surely he deserved some personal happiness. Out of all the world, it seemed that Marian Colby was the one person who loved him for himself alone. He wanted her, and there was no real reason why he shouldn't have her. It would be different if he were cold-bloodedly planning to leave a wife who cared deeply for him because he was tired of her. If that were the case he would make the best of things, but as it was, he wanted love, the heady emotion of youth, and in Marian Colby was everything he desired.

Outside of his peculations at the two banks, according to the district attorney, Smith failed for $95,750, which was owed to some nineteen corporations and individuals and was not secured by marketable securities.

Colored Attorney In Jail Here Is Wanted In Iowa

W. G. Anderson, negro attorney, who claims that he is a Harvard graduate, is wanted in Des Moines, Iowa, on charges of threats to extort and larceny as bailee.

According to a letter received by Sheriff Hensel from Sheriff Park Findley of Des Moines, two bench warrants have been issued for Anderson's apprehension.

Anderson denied the allegations in the letter and asserted that he had never been in Des Moines. He stated that it was a "frameup."

Anderson is now serving out a $100 fine imposed after he had pleaded guilty to illegal possession of liquor.

Dr. Rall Addresses Life Service Group

Dr. H. Franklin Rall, professor of systematic theology at Garret Biblical institute was the guest of honor and spoke at a dinner of the Life Service group at Nebraska Wesleyan Friday night.

He said in brief:

"A man should not start in to get joy out of his work but if he is in the right place his work will be happy and joyful. Most of us want to do something that has a kick in it.

"The joy of a pastor should lie in seeing his people go right. Some people seem to get their joy out of emotional reactions, but a pastor will not get far on that line. Satisfaction is a test of one's work. The attitude is abnormal that goes to a task with a formal sense of duty."

Later in the evening he addressed an audience in the church auditorium on "The Future Life."

AMENDING THE VOLSTEAD LAW

If the cabled reports of the treaty just negotiated by Ambassador Harvey with Great Britain are accurate, an interesting situation is certain to arise. The treaty is for the purpose of aiding the United States in suppressing the smuggling of liquor into this country and provides that foreign vessels suspected of carrying intoxicants with intent of landing them on American soil may be searched even outside the three mile limit.

Great Britain does not yield this point, however, without receiving something in return, and that thing is considered very valuable. Her vessels are to be allowed to bring liquors under seal into American ports, thus being able to supply thirsty passengers on the return voyage, as well as on the trip over. This is considered as giving British boats a tremendous advantage over those of America and reports are already coming out of Washington to the effect that drys as well as wets will attempt to defeat the treaty.

It is of course, understood that the agreement is in direct violation of the Volstead act as interpreted by the United States supreme court. The high tribunal held that under the law liquors could not be brought into American waters, even under seal, and that prohibition enforcement officers were justified in boarding foreign vessels and seizing such intoxicants as were found on them.

It is evident, however, that the ruling powers expect to have the law modified, notwithstanding the persistent and emphatic declarations to the effect that this could not be done. If the treaty which has just been negotiated shall be ratified by the senate to a two-thirds vote this will have the effect of amending the law to conform with the treaty. Otherwise the Volstead act must be amended by a majority vote in each house.

Reports coming out from Washington would seem to indicate that the prohibition enforcement act will not be amended by the senate in the manner mentioned. Too may interests will oppose it. Ship operators will put up a streuous fight against giving what they believe to be a big advantage to foreign vessels. Drys will fight any amendment to the act and especially one which presents possibilities for smuggling said by some to be greater than those existing at present, while the wets will oppose it for the same reason the shipping interests do and for the further one that they do not want the law amended unless they can have something to do with framing the amendment.

Ambassador Harvey's last official act promises to stir up more of a commotion than any other thing done by him while abroad.

MESSAGES FROM THE DEAD.

New York papers have been giving considerable space to the attempt made by the Rev. Mrs. Josi K. Stewart, pastor of the First Independent church at Cleveland, Ohio, to win the $2,500 prize offered by the Scientific American for anyone who will give a satisfactory production of objective psychic phenomena before the executive staff of that paper.

After three unsuccessful attempts to produce written messages on cards between which she pressed flowers and ferns, Mrs. Stewart succeeded on the fourth attempt in producing six written messages, writen in pink and heliotrope and carrying brief messages each from spirits of well known people both dead and living. So successful was she in this fourth attempt that the more skeptical reporters for the New York papers were somewhat impressed and the committee issued a preliminary statement which seemed at the time to indicate that Mrs. Stewart had won the prize money.

The story was all exploded a day later, however, when the officials holding the tests announced that they had caught Mrs. Stewart in trickery and that her messages were produced on cards brought to the seances already prepared. They disclosed that after the first unsuccessful seances when Mrs. Stewart tore up a number of the soiled cards, that five cards were missing from those remaining, plus those scraped. This was carefully ascertained by weights. At the second seance the remaining cards—Mrs. Stewart asked that the same cards be used each time because they were then "magnetized"—were marked and Mrs. Stewart evidently discovered the mark, in the opinion of the examiners and so failed to use the cards she had secured from copying the purloined samples.

The fourth seance was held in the open, in a garden near New York. This time the remaining cards had been carefully trimmed so that they were thinner by an infinitesimal fraction and slightly smaller than before. Mrs. Stewart was searched but had an opportunity in the opinion of the judges to secure the cards after the search. A reporter's heavy German overcoat, which he humorously valued at 150,000,000,000 marks, was borrowed because the demonstrator complained of being cold and watchers thought they detected her sleight of hand performance then, but said nothing.

As told above, she produced six messages. Many were convinced of the genuineness of the demonstration and the judges themselves gave out a guarded statement showing that they were not certain as to how far they might have been tricked and how nearly the medium might have proved her claims.

Then they measured and weighed and examined the cards. They found the message cards different in size, weight and color and agreed unanimously that Mrs. Stewart had merely demonstrated again that the hand is quicker than the eye. They ruled her out without a quibble and announced to the world that her spirit writing was a trick. The offer of a $2,500 prize for the first objective psychic phenomena still stands.

Mrs. Stewart attracted the attention of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle while the latter was in Cleveland and although he never witnessed a demonstration he urged her to appear before the board of the Scientific American to show her ability to receive messages from the dead.

THE CITY SCALES.

Commissioner Cowgill does not seem to have the same idea that we have as to the purpose of the city scales. He has stated on numerous occasions that he desires to have coal dealers keep their wagons away from the city scales and sell from their own weights, leaving the municipal scales free to the municipal coal yard only, so far as weighing coal is concerned.

Mr. Cowgill apparently forgets that the city scales were established and are maintained for the protection and benefit of the public and not for the comfort and convenience of any coal dealer, the municipal coal yard included. The coal dealers who wish to weigh over the city scales should be encouraged, not discouraged. They pay for the privilege and the customers are assured of correct weights and full measure. Just why Mr. Cowgill should wish to drive all private coal dealers away from the city scales is not apparent but his unfriendly attitude and openly harsh criticism of those who do business over the city scales has left no doubt as to his wish to reserve the scales for his own coal department.

Had Mr. Cowgill investigated the ordinances before he arrested a coal dealer at the scales house and confiscated his books, bringing both the dealer and the weighmaster before the commission, he might have been more cautious. He discovers now, after the rumpus that the weighmaster and not he was actually in charge of the market square and scales house and that he was in a way a trespasser there when he staged his "raid."

No one will argue in favor of letting itinerant coal merchants if there be any, use the market square to sell coal to prospective municipal coal yard patrons through misrepresentation, but no one with any idea of the fundamental reasons for a city scales and weighmaster will agree that coal dealers or dealers in any commodity which is sold by weight should be discouraged in their willingness to weigh on the city scales. That is a protection to the public and merchants who are willing to sell by such weight are to be congratulated—and approved.

Factory Social is Given at Y. M. C. A.

About fifty employes of Curtis Towle & Paine and their families were entertained by the industrial department of the Y. M. C. A., at a factory social Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. building.

The program started at 7:30 and consisted of a violin solo by A. Walters of Curtis Towle and Paine. Mr. Walters used an instrument of his own making. Jack Welch gave an exhibition of baton twirling. Morris N. Adams, chairman of the industrial department, welcomed the guests. Another feature of the program was an industrial picture showing the manufacture and testing of automobiles.

The party then made an inspection trip through the building. Following this the guests were taken to the Red room where games were played until 9:30.

MIDDLETON SINGS TO BIG AUDIENCE

Lincoln Music Lovers Fill the Auditorium to Hear Famous Bass-Baritone.

A capacity house greeted Arthur Middleton the famous bass-baritone singer when he appeared in concert at the city auditorium Friday evening.

To say that Mr Middleton's voice was unusual would be expressing it mildly. It was superb His range was almost super-human for his bass tones were as deep and full as his high baritone was sweet and clear

His program, while it showed his voice to advantage, was not the sort that appealed especially to the audience. The larger portion of it seemed too cold for such a warm, rich voice, but nevertheless the artist was called and re-called for encores.

In place of "Vittoria," by Carissimi, Mr. Middleton gave the Largo al factotum, from the Barber of Seville, which was received most enthusiastically by his audience.

His first number, a recitative "From the Rage of the Tempest" aria, "Hear me ye Winds and Waves," by Handel, was a wonderful thing, and Mr. Middleton interpreted it splendidly.

The group of "Salt Water Ballads," by Keel, was vastly different to anything that has been given by artists recently, and was heartily applauded by the audience.

His last group was the most appealing to the general audience. The songs were sweet and yet had character. "Sylvia" by Speaks, and "Mandalay," also by Speaks, were possibly the two favorites.

Mr. Middleton responded with four encores, "Where e're You Walk," from Handel's "Semele," after the first aria. "Me an' My Little Banjo," followed the second group. Metcalf's "Absent," an old favorite, was given after the Barber of Seville, and Bell's arrangement of Kipling's "Follow Me 'ome," was the encore after the group of Salt Water Ballads.

The artist did not respond after the last group, possibly because many of the audience had risen almost before his last number was completed. There is seldom an artist who does not respond with at least one closing encore unless his audience is not courteous enough to remain seated until after his final appearance.

The program was as follows:

I a. Recit. "From the Rage of the Tempest. Aria: "Hear me ye Winds and waves."—Handel.
b. "Passing by"—Purcell.
c "I'm a Roamer"—Mendelssohn.
II a. "Der Wanderer—Schubert.
b. "Der Leiermann"—Schubert.
2. "Der Asra—Rubenstein.
d. "Auf Wachtposten—Hermann.
III Barber of Seville.
IV Salt Water ballads.
a. "Port o' Ships"
b. "Trade Winds."
c "Mother Carey," Keel.
V. a. "King Duncan's Daughters"—Allitsen.
2. "The Bellman"—Forsyth.
c. "Sylvia"—Speaks.
c. "Mandalay"—Speaks.

Masked Men Lynch Prisoner In Oklahoma

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 3.—Eleven masked men overpowered guards in McIntosh county jail at Eufaula, south of here, today, seized Dallas Howell, accused of attacking a woman, and lynched him, according to word received here.

Telephone wires leading to this city were cut by the lynchers, forestalling pursuit. Howell's body was found hanging in a barn near Eufaula by officers who followed the lynching party.

Howell recently was returned to Eufaula after having escaped from Sheriff M. B. Moore, while being taken from Muskogee to Eufaula for preliminary hearing. Previously he had been brought here for safe keeping, when it was feared mob violence against Howell might precipitate martial law.

Making Criminals.

(Nebraska City Press.)

The Norfolk News comments sensibly on the habit some communities have of "passing on" some criminal to another community. For instance, a man is arrested and held in jail for a few days, where he is fed and lodged at the public expense. A compromise is effected and he is released on the promise that he will "leave town." And then he trots on to some other community where he has a chance to do it all over again.

That scheme has been successfully worked in hundreds of communities. We have even seen it applied in our well-regulated municipality. A pauper family arrives, "dead broke," hungry and in distress. The authorities buy transortation to a nearby town and the travelers are sent on, to receive the tender mercies of the next "goat" along the line. It is a practice which is engaged in for the benefit of the taxpayer in whose name many a little white fib is told, many a misdemeanor committed.

Frankly, there is at hand no suggested solution. All we know is that such things do happen. Possibly, for that matter, many of the folks who are arrested here on charges of vagrancy may have been sent to us gratutously by some other community. It isn't a pretty practice, but it seems to be universally indulged in. As for the folks who receive the bounty, the probably enjoy the experience of seeing the world at the collective expense of Mr. Taxpayer.

Advice for Coolidge.

(Mason City Transcript.

The president intimates that conditions generally in this country are satisfactory. That sounds good, We are iot doing any kicking ourself. But with all due regard to the wisdom of the president, we suggest that he get busy, put the government machinery into energetic motion see that federal laws are impartially enforced against rich and poor alike (something that has not been done in many a day) keep the freight cars moving, hold big business down to a reasonable profit, curb the profiteers, jail the crook, and give the little fellow a square deal. If we will d othese things business will be more than satisfactory, and we will willingly call him something besides "Silent Cal."

RAILWAY MOTOR CARS.

(Harvard Courier.)

It is said that the Burlington is contemplating buying a flock of high powered motor cars to use in competing with bus lines. Why not! Railroad motors can be used in all kinds of weather and special schedules can be arranged between population centers that would be better than any bus line can possibly provide. Railroad motors would also be much more comfortable to ride in than motor busses. Looks like the railroads have the solution of the bus problem entirely in their own hands if they want to use it. They might also provide big motor driven trucks to handle short haul freight.

TEACHERS HOLD FINAL SESSION OF CONVENTION

District One of State Association Closes Annual Meeting Saturday.

Pass Resolutions Approving Work of Legion and Parent-Teachers Group.

The final session of district No. 1, Nebraska State Teachers' association was held Saturday morning in the auditorium of St. Paul's church, following the adoption of resolutions thanking the various interests in Lincoln that "made for the success of the convention." Among these were the Lincoln chamber of commerce, the newspapers, churches, Boy Scouts. Another resolution approved the Americanization program of the American legion, and the work of the Parent-Teachers association, in promoting the welfare of the child of school age.

The morning session of the association was given over to two addresses, one by Dr. J. O. Engleman, field secretary of the national Educational association, who discussed "Meeting a Felt Need," and "New Problems of Education Precipitated by New Times," discussed by Professor M. V. O'Shea, of the University of Wisconsin, at Madison.

In his address Dr. Engleman pointed out that a great need felt by educators today in the successful carrying on of the work by educators as a whole, is religion, knowledge and morality. He said that without these three "necessary" elements no teacher can give the best he or she may have to the child being taught.

If the teacher desires to send the pupil forward to eventually go out and take its place in the battle of life it must have an education builded on the elements of religion, knowledge and morality.

Says Chivalry Needed.

Sounding a warning that there is danger of the disintegration of present day society and of a falling back of the American form of civilization, Professor O'Shea declared "there must be a change from the present tendency of old and young alike, to seek the emotional. There must be a change in the style of the moving picture and there must be a change in the style of dancing." One of the greatest things we need today, he said is more of the chivalry of the old days. The chivalry of the days of the Virginia reel and the early Colonial days.

The speaker said he did not believe the United States was going to pieces, but emphasied the dangers that he might better impress upon the mind of teachers the necessity for holding in check the emotions of the children that their learning periods may be lengthened.

Mr. O'Shea declared that as the learning period of children is shortened, so is the civilization of the nation shortened until it is shattered and falls. He pointed out that as the learning period of the children of a nation is lengthened so does the civilization of that nation grow and enlarge.

The early arrest of the mental growth of children is a tragedy, the speaker declared, and he said that while he did not believe there was any great tendency to a checking in America it was time that educators were taking steps to guard against the same kind of tragedies that have overtaken some of the oldest nations in Europe.

MELLON WILL NOT REPLY TO PINCHOT

Feels Further "Debate" On Prohibition Question Is Useless.

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Secretary Mellon has decided to continue no further controversy on prohibition enforcement initiated by Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

In a statement published today the secretary presented for the judgment of public opinion a report on the treasury's efforts to discharge the task of "supreme difficulty," and added that "all persons interested in law enforcement will see the futility" of further controversy with Mr. Pinchot.

Enforcement of the dry laws can be accomplished, Mr. Mellon said, if two primary conditions were met—expension of the enforcement machinery, which means lyarge apropriations and "more active" co-operation by local authorities.

NEBRASKA BUREAU OPPOSES CHANGE IN CAPPER ACT

Farm Federation Against Amendments to Present Measure.

Field Representative Of Washington Office Meets Local Officers.

Officers of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation met with Chester Grey, field representative of the Washington office of the Federation, Friday night at the Lincoln hotel for a discussion of the Federation's legislative program for the coming year. Mr. Grey is making a survey of the general attitude of the various state organizations in regard to a number of issues that are expected to come up during the next congressional session. Among the officers present were H. R. Keefe president of the state organization and C. B. Steward, secretary, and J. M. Norton of Polk, member of the executive board.

The Nebraska federation went on record as strongly opposing any change or modification of the Capper-Tincher act. This act gives the secretary of agriculture a certain control over the contract grain markets and eliminates speculative buying. The purpose of the act is to eliminate this speculation.

Certain grain interests are attempting to do away with this provision, according to Mr. Steward. "These interests have for some time attempted to spread propaganda among the farmers to the effect that this act has been one of the chief causes for the drop of grain prices," said Mr. Steward. They have attempted to create a public opinion that it was this speculation which stablized the markets.

A second point brought out by the federation was its desire for the modification of section 15 of the Esch-Cummins act, which provides for the fixing of freight rates on a basis of the railroad valuation. The federation's objection to this is that it claims that the farmers are compelled to pay excessive rates on an inflated valuation.

Against Sales Tax.

A third issue to which the federation declared its opposition is luxury taxation or any taxation which throws the burden of the taxes on the consumer rather than on the accumulated capital. "The Federation is against any taxation which smacks of sales tax," said Steward.

Likewise the federation opposes any form of price-fixing by the government. "There is no end to price fixing once it has started. So many things affect the prices of commodities that it is impossible to fix one price with a fairness to all," he said.

The Federation backed up Henry Ford to the fullest extent in his proposition concerning Muscle Shoals. The federation wants congress to settle the question rather than Secretary Weeks. It is opposed to any such transactions such as the sale to the Alabama Power company. It is not for selling Muscle Shoals to Ford but for the conservation of the natural resources for the people.

In regard to the immigration question it wants the three per cent allotment based on the 1890 census of foreign population which would increase the Anglo-Saxon quota and decrease that of the Latin nations.

DANGER

Girl's Problems A Business

An Absorbing New Serial

BY HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR.

(Copyright, 1923, by Public Ledger Co.)

Marian Colby is in love with her married employer, Alec Holden. Harriet, Alec's wife, has for years lived a life apart from him and when he discovers Marian's love for him, an emotion he has starved for years springs up in his heart. He begins to depend on Marian's society, and his best friend, Richard Endicott, whom Marian dislikes, suspects that something is wrong. Marian tells her mother of her friendship with Holden and Mrs. Colby is shocked.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

Alec Thinks It Over.

Having left Marian the night before, Alec went home to the apartment on Park avenue. He sat for a long time in the library, stretched out in his favorite chair, dreaming on the events of the evening. Marian was still with him, and one fact was clear to him, he wanted her, he needed her in his life, with her he could begin over again, and together they could find happiness.

His eyes wandered around the great silent room, taking in the richness of the furnishings, the warmth of embroidered velour, the thick softness of Oriental rugs. He had achieved all this, he had been what the world calls a success, and he had surrounded Harriet and Eleanor with every luxury. Whatever happened, they should not suffer, he would see that their lives went on as usual, he would provide them with all the money they wanted, and they would be content.

Clearly and without bitterness, he reviewed his life with Harriet. From the very first she had repelled his ardor, she had shuddered away from his attempted love-making. In Harriet's scheme of things a woman must marry, any woman who did not acquire a husband found herself inconvenienced in many ways, and so she had taken him on as she might have acquired a new piece of furniture. A carefully handled divorce would cause her no pangs of unhappiness, she would not suffer. To be sure the thought of losing him might inconvenience her. It would be necessary to readjust her life, and he would be missing a convenient escort but that was all.

Alec's thoughts passed from Harriet to Eleanor and here, too, he could find no reason for continuing with things as they were. Until recently he and Eleanor had been strangers. He did not count in her life save as a payer of bills, some one to pull her out of a hole when she had been too extravagant. There had never been any intimacy between them. As a child he had hardly seen her and Harriet had never asked his advice as to her upbringing. What would it mean to Eleanor to lose her father? Nothing at all, if she were assured that her bills would be paid in the future just as they had been paid in the past.

And yet—Alec's thoughts flew to that day when he had lunched with Eleanor. He remembered the feeling of pride he had felt in her gay impertinences and the resolution he had made to attempt a closer intimacy with his daughter. He had enjoyed her companionship and he remembered thinking it an improvement on the old relationship between father and daughter. Less of the parent and more of the friend, had been the thought that had darted through his mind, but now as the memory of that day became clearer he suddenly remembered the occasion for that lunch. Eleanor had over-drawn her account, she had needed money and she doubtless jollied hi malong because he had been agreeable about giving it to her, that was all.

The more he thought about his wife and daughter, the more purposeless his life became. After all, he was young, only 42, there were years of active life ahead of him, and surely he deserved some personal happiness. Out of all the world, it seemed that Marian Colby was the one person who loved him for himself alone. He wanted her, and there was no real reason why he shouldn't have her. It would be different if he were cold-bloodedly planning to leave a wife who cared deeply for him because he was tired of her. If that were the case he would make the best of things, but as it was, he wanted love, the heady emotion of youth, and in Marian Colby was everything he desired.

Denver Banker Sentenced to a Term In Prison

(Associated Press)

DENVER, Nov. 3.—Carle H. Smith, Denver banker and prominent business man, on October 20, last, was sentenced to serve from four to ten years in the state penitentiary when he entered a plea of guilty to obtaining money by false pretenses and fradulently selling land twice, it was announced by Philip S. Van Cise, district attorney, today.

According to the district attorney, Smith obtained approximately $[illegible]0,250 from the North Denver bank here on fraudulent transaction and $24,300 from the Central Savings bank. The losses at both banks have been made good, according to the district attorney. Smith was one of the vice presidents of the Central Savings bank and president of the North Denver bank.

Outside of his peculations at the two banks, according to the district attorney, Smith failed for $95,750, which was owed to some nineteen corporations and individuals and was not secured by marketable securities.

Colored Attorney In Jail Here Is Wanted In Iowa

W. G. Anderson, negro attorney, who claims that he is a Harvard graduate, is wanted in Des Moines, Iowa, on charges of threats to extort and larceny as bailee.

According to a letter received by Sheriff Hensel from Sheriff Park Findley of Des Moines, two bench warrants have been issued for Anderson's apprehension.

Anderson denied the allegations in the letter and asserted that he had never been in Des Moines. He stated that it was a 'frameup.'"

Anderson is now serving out a $100 fine imposed after he had pleaded guilty to illegal possession of liquor.

Dr. Rall Addresses Life Service Group

Dr. H. Franklin Rall., professor of systematic theology at Garret Biblical institute was the guest of honor and spoke at a dinner of the Life Service group at Nebraska Wesleyan Friday night.

He said in brief:

"A man should not start in to get joy out of his work but if he is in the right place his work will be happy and joyful. oMst of us want to do something that has a kick in it.

"The joy of a pastor should lie in seeing his people go right. Some people seem to get their joy out of emotional reactions, but a pastor will not get far on that line. Satisfaction is a test of one's work. The attitude is abnormal that goes to a task with a formal sense of duty."

Later in the evening he addressed an audience in the church auditorium on "The Future Life."

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.

The stock market closed firm today. Following a brief period of irregularity due to additional profit taking, fresh buying in various divisions sent prices to higher levels in today's short session.

Steel stocks were in good demand, and showed good gains, but oils showed some irregularity. With the exception of Chesapeake & Ohio, which was heavy and lost over 1 point to 72⅝, the railroad list showed good fractional gains.

and that in order to stabilize and remedy existing and unfair economic conditions, we favor the following to be a part of our legislative program:

"Government banking—By which we mean that the government of the United States will take over the federal reserve bank system, reserving to itself the sole right to issue currency and to determine the amount of currency which may be issued to the American people, and shall establish government banks in connection with the postal system in sufficient numbers to meet the needs and suit the convenience of our people, and establish a debt paying system of finance, cease the issue of government bonds and pay all debts and contracts in full legal tender currency, free from interest to be retired out of the earnings of industry and establish such borrowing facilities as are necessary which shall be available to all citizens requiring legitimate capital for productive enterprises.

"And, be it further resolved, that we are fully in accord with the national and Nebraska branch for progressive political action as outlined in the following articles 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6:

"1—The repeal of the Esch-Cummins railroad law, and operation of the railroads for the benefit of the people. The public control of coal mines, water power and hydro-electric power in the interest of the people.

Direct Presidential Election.

"2—The direct election of the president and vice president by the people and extension of direct primary laws in all states.

"3—That congress end the practice of the courts to declare legislation unconstitutional.

"4—Enactment of the Norris-Sinclair consumers' and producers' financing corporation—bill designed to increase prices farmers receive, and reduce prices consumers pay for farm products, and the creation of an independent system of food producers' credits.

"5—Increased tax rates on large income and inheritance, and payment of a soldiers' bonus by restoring the tax on excess profits.

"6—Legislation providing minimum essential standards of employment for women; equality for women and men while improving existing political social and industrial standards and state action to insure maximum benefit of federal maternity and infancy acts.

"In view of what has been accomplished in the various states by the political co-operation of farmers and laborers, great progress will be made by working together harmoniously during the coming campaign of 1924, and the measure of success attained will depend on the individual activities of the producing and consuming classes.

"A meeting will be held in February, at which time the Nebraska branch of the progressive political action will meet in order to concur in the action and selecting candidates for the primary elections.

Coolidge Approves Army Promotions

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—President Coolidge has approved recommendations made by Secretary Weeks for the promotion of Brigadier-General Walter H. Gordon, commandant of the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga.; William H. Hay, now on leave at LaJolla, Cal., and Harry H. Bandholtz, commanding the district of Washington, to be major generals, and Colonels Charles J. Symmonds of the army general staff, and Laroy S. Upton, chief of staff of the Seventh corps area, headquarters at Omaha, Neb., to be brigadier generals.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Dun's today said: The week has been marked by some confident statements on the business outlook, an extra dividend declaration by the principal steel interests, a sharp recovery in stock prices and a quickening of retail demand under the stimulus of lower temperatures. Yet it has also brought reports of steel buying little in excess of 50 per cent of producing capacity, another decline in pig iron prices, a further restriction of textile output and statistics showing an increased commercial mortality. Hence the situation remains highly irregular with many conflicting phases and conservatism still governs most commitments. The disinclination to extend purchases beyond actually known needs, which has been growing stronger in different quarters affects manufacturing schedules as old orders are completed and the proportion of idle equipment has risen at pig iron furnaces, cotton, wool and silk mills and leather tanneries, and signs of curtailment are beginning to appear in certain departments of steel works.

Kings and Queens Attend Royal Wedding In London

Splendor Lacking In Ceremony at Chapel In St. James Palace Which Unites Lady Mountbattan And Prince Gustav Adolph.

(Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Before the ancient altar of the intimate little chapel royal in St. James palace, where many a king and queen have been married since the days of Henry VIII, Crown Prince Gustav Adolph of Sweden, took as his second bride this afternoon Lady Louise Mountbatten, a niece of the reigning sovereigns of Britain.

There was none of the splendor or grandeur about the ceremony such as the weddings of royalty in vast Westminster Abbey have known. It was simple as could be, considering the high estate of the bridegroom and the presence of so many royal witnesses, ambassadors and titled aristocrats. Fewer than 300 persons were able to find seats within the narrow confines of the chapel.

The first part of the marriage ceremony was conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury, the second part by the Bishop of London, who is dean of the chapel royal.

Many Notables Present.

At either side of the bride and bridegroom sat the reigning sovereigns of Sweden and Great Britain, members of both royal houses occupied nearby chairs. Behind them were the bridesmaids and distributed through the rest of the chapel were notables of Great Britain and Sweden and of many other countries.

The simplicity of the marriage ceremony was sustained after the church service. King George and Queen Mary and King Gustav and Queen Victoria attended the wedding reception in an informal manner, not as "their majesties."

The reception did not last long and before nightfall the crown prince had taken his bride away from London on their honeymoon, most of which will be spent in Italy. They will arrive in Stockholm on December 11.

GRAINGER PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE

it and so entertain no hard feeling against him, though I lost my boy, but rather a feeling of commiseration—I am sorry for him.

"For the moment the public was aroused and some who had no right to 'cast the first stone,' may have been loudest to proclaim against your son. I do not ask for 'an eye for an eye nor a tooth for a tooth.' As the case now stands your son has received severe punishment, mentally, and as far as my family and myself are concerned, we ask no further punishment. Any more meeted out to him would be borne by you and your family, who are innocent.

"Sincerely yours,
(Signed.) D. J. SPRINGER."

Judge Stewart, before passing sentence on Grainger, explained his attitude in the case. "We have before us a young man, who, so far as I know, I have never met. I have known his family, his father and his uncle since they were young men. In the forty years of our acquaintance, I have known them as careful and frugal men.

"I cannot get away from the feeling that there is no peril to the community in suspending sentence on Ernest Grainger. He was merely speeding and nearly everybody has been guilty of doing that. There is no depravity such that he would wilfully do any harm.

"The attitude of the relatives would recommend this parole. Mr. Grainger stands willing to make any possible reparation.

The judge then read the usual parole regulations to him and the special regulations that he imposed. Grainger will report regularly to the probation officer and was required to report at each term of court to the judge, either in person or by letter.

His effects, consisted for the most part of letters and telegrams from women all over the United States.

"Well, I'll probably get five years for this," said Comisky smilingly to the detectives. "But it won't be the first time I've been in jail," he added.

"The heir" when searched at police headquarters was found to be penniless.

Comisky, Friday night had announced that he "had selected a boyhood sweetheart in Sioux City and would probably marry her the ninth or tenth of this month."

Award Contracts For State Printing

Contracts for two state printing jobs were awarded Saturday by Purchasing Agent Farris to the Nebraska Farmer, ex-Governor McKelvie's weekly paper, which was the low bidder on both. One of them is for 400 copies of the annual building and loan reports to the state banking bureau. The price is $1.75 a page, for about 170 pages, or about $300 for the whole job. The second contract covers 5,000 circulars of twenty-four pages each, containing regulations for cream stations and testers, which will be sent out by the agriculture department. This work will be done for $5.99 per page, or a trifle under $96 for the entire issue.

This has long been a cinder driveway but because of drainage troubles and dusty summers, the park department has decided to pave the entrance as far as the Rock Island tracks. DEEP GLOOM IN LONDON OVER FRENCH STAND

British Foreign Office Will Undertake Effort to Induce Poincare to Modify Determination to Limit Conference.

PROSPECT NOT BRIGHT ADMITTED BY ENGLISH

Views of Coolidge That Restrictions Would Probably Spell Failure Have a Depressing Effect On Washington.

(International News Service.)

LONDON, Nov. 3.—In contrast with previous optimism, government circles were in deepest gloom today over the prospects for the proposed international reparations conference.

It was learned at the foreign office that Great Britain has instructed Lord Crewe, British ambassador to Paris, to make the utmost efforts to induce Premier Poincare to modify his terms and to make the inquiry a free one. The British ambassador was told to point out to the French premier that sentiment in Washington and London regards the French restrictions as nullifying the value of the conference.

It is understood that Italy has long protested against the French terms. This aligns England, Italy and the United States against the French conditions. France has the support of Belgium and her strategic position is strengthened further by the fact that M. Borthou, former French premier, is president of the inter-allied reparations commission.

Want Lines Fixed.

Great Britain desires to write into the invitation to the United States the actual terms of the conference, taking the agenda out of the hands of the inter-allied reparations commission. France is opposed to such action. France wants the conference to be held under the supervision of the reparations commission and along fixed lines laid down by the commission.

In the meantime all developments are held up pending the result of the British representations to Premier Poincare.

A semi-official spokesman for the British government admitted that prospects for the conference are not satisfactory. He said England's chief hope is that the United States will make strong representations to France on her own account.

Distinctly Depressed.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Statements at the white house that President Coolidge would view the placing of restrictions on the proposed expert committee inquiry into Germany's capacity to pay reparations as committing the plan to almost certain failure had a distinctly depressing effect today on the entire outlook.

What effect the indicated desire of Premier Poincare of France, to limit the scope of inquiry may have on the question of American participation was stated at the white house when the president's views were disclosed yesterday to be as yet uncertain.

It remains to be disclosed what stipulations France may attach in joining the allies in a formal invitation for an unofficial American representative on the committee and it was indicated much would depend on the language in which these may be couched.

Should they appear to place definite restrictions on the scope of inquiry it was indicated that the Washington government probably would agree to American participation, but only after plainly stating its belief that an attempt to settle the reparations question in that way would be futile.

Herrick Meets Poincare.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—Myron T. Herrick, the American ambassador, called on Premier Poincare today and had a long conversation with him. The strictest secrecy regarding the subject of the conference is maintained at the French foreign office and the American embassy.

Mary Garden Says Marriage Jest Has Started Something

(Associated Press.)

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 3.—When Mary Garden, prima dona, was quoted on the Pacific coast recently as having said she might marry within a year she started something, she said here yesterday. The trouble was that somebody added a few frills to it, the principal one of which was that she had declared her preference for a westerner. Miss Garden said it was a plot hatched by newspaper reporters.

"The whole affair was started in jest," she said, "but soon became a terrible reality when ranchers and used-to-be ranchers began seeking interviews with me in order to press their suits."

COMISKEY TO WIN WIFE AND ESTATE

Colorado Heir Reported Engaged to Young Woman From Chadron.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Nov. 3.—J. T. Comiskey, Eaton, Colo., man, who will inherit $63,000 from an uncle provided he is married by November 11, 1923, is engaged to marry Miss Hazel Griffiths of Sioux City, Ia. and formerly of Chadron, Neb., according to information given out at the rooming house at which Comiskey is supposed to reside.

Informants at the rooming house refused to divulge any details of the proposed marriage, except to say that the couple would be married in Sioux City and would reside in Iowa for at least six months after the wedding.

Comiskey has received hundreds of letters from girls in all parts of the country, offering to share his lot and the $62,000 inheritance. Miss Griffiths was represented to be a working girl, twenty-three years old and pretty. She has been a resident of Sioux City since last May, according to information received.

NOT TO ATTEMPT IOWA CO-OP MOVE

(Associated Press.)

DES MOINES, Nov. 3.—Differences between Iowa farm bureau officials and Aaron Sapiro, counsel on co-operative marketing for the American farm bureau federation, over the methods by which co-operative selling shall be worked out, developed here yesterday when Sapiro, in an address before the Iowa state teachers' association, attacked Iowa co-operative legislation as a generation behind that of the rest of the country.

As a result Sapiro declared that the Lowden wheat marketing committee would not attempt to organize Iowa for co-operative marketing, in the near future at least.

Farm bureau officials and representatives of the extension department of the Iowa state college accosted Sapiro in a downtown hotel lobby after Sapiro's address and an altercation which followed resulted in the request by hotel officials that the debaters leave the lobby.

Sapiro declared that "the Iowa co-operative marketing laws have no teeth" and accused Iowa farm bureau officials of hostility to co-operative marketing.

BROTHERHOOD IS AGAINST FORD

"Government banking—By which we mean that the government of the United States will take over the federal reserve bank system, reserving to itself the sole right to issue currency and to determine the amount of currency which may be issued to the American people, and shall establish government banks in connection with the postal system in sufficient numbers to meet the needs and suit the convenience of our people, and establish a debt paying system of finance, cease the issue of government bonds and pay all debts and contracts in full legal tender currency, free from interest to be retired out of the earnings of industry and establish such borrowing facilities as are necessary which shall be available to all citizens requiring legitimate capital for productive enterprises.

"And, be it further resolved, that we are fully in accord with the national and Nebraska branch for progressive political action as outlined in the following articles 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6:

"1—The repeal of the Esch-Cummins railroad law, and operation of the railroads for the benefit of the people. The public control of coal mines, water power and hydro-electric power in the interest of the people.

Direct Presidential Election.

"2—The direct election of the president and vice president by the people and extension of direct primary laws in all states.

"3—That congress end the practice of the courts to declare legislation unconstitutional.

"4—Enactment of the Norris-Sinclair consumers' and producers' financing corporation—bill designed to increase prices farmers receive, and reduce prices consumers pay for farm products, and the creation of an independent system of food producers' credits.

"5—Increased tax rates on large income and inheritance, and payment of a soldiers' bonus by restoring the tax on excess profits.

Coolidge Approves Army Promotions

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—President Coolidge has approved recommendations made by Secretary Weeks for the promotion of Brigadier-General Walter H. Gordon, commandant of the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga.; William H. Hay, now on leave at LaJolla, Cal., and Harry H. Bandholtz, commanding the district of Washington, to be major generals, and Colonels Charles J. Symmonds of the army general staff, and Laroy S. Upton, chief of staff of the Seventh corps area, headquarters at Omaha, Neb., to be brigadier generals.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Dun's today said: The week has been marked by some confident statements on the business outlook, an extra dividend declaration by the principal steel interests, a sharp recovery in stock prices and a quickening of retail demand under the stimulus of lower temperatures. Yet it has also brought reports of steel buying little in excess of 50 per cent of producing capacity, another decline in pig iron prices, a further restriction of textile output and statistics showing an increased commercial mortality. Hence the situation remains highly irregular with many conflicting phases and conservatism still governs most commitments. The disinclination to extend purchases beyond actually known needs, which has been growing stronger in different quarters affects manufacturing schedules as old orders are completed and the proportion of idle equipment has risen at pig iron furnaces, cotton, wool and silk mills and leather tanneries, and signs of curtailment are beginning to appear in certain departments of steel works.

Kings and Queens Attend Royal Wedding In London

Splendor Lacking In Ceremony at Chapel In St. James Palace Which Unites Lady Mountbattan And Prince Gustav Adolph.

(Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Before the ancient altar of the intimate little chapel royal in St. James palace, where many a king and queen have been married since the days of Henry VIII, Crown Prince Gustav Adolph of Sweden, took as his second bride this afternoon Lady Louise Mountbatten, a niece of the reigning sovereigns of Britain.

There was none of the splendor or grandeur about the ceremony such as the weddings of royalty in vast Westminster Abbey have known. It was simple as could be, considering the high estate of the bridegroom and the presence of so many royal witnesses, ambassadors and titled aristocrats. Fewer than 300 persons were able to find seats within the narrow confines of the chapel.

The first part of the marriage ceremony was conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury, the second part by the Bishop of London, who is dean of the chapel royal.

Many Notables Present.

At either side of the bride and bridegroom sat the reigning sovereigns of Sweden and Great Britain, members of both royal houses occupied nearby chairs. Behind them were the bridesmaids and distributed through the rest of the chapel were notables of Great Britain and Sweden and of many other countries.

The simplicity of the marriage ceremony was sustained after the church service. King George and Queen Mary and King Gustav and Queen Victoria attended the wedding reception in an informal manner, not as "their majesties."

The reception did not last long and before nightfall the crown prince had taken his bride away from London on their honeymoon, most of which will be spent in Italy. They will arrive in Stockholm on December 11.

GRAINGER PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE

it and so entertain no hard feeling against him, though I lost my boy, but rather a feeling of commiseration—I am sorry for him.

"For the moment the public was aroused and some who had no right to 'cast the first stone,' may have been loudest to proclaim against your son. I do not ask for 'an eye for an eye nor a tooth for a tooth.' As the case now stands your son has received severe punishment, mentally, and as far as my family and myself are concerned, we ask no further punishment. Any more meeted out to him would be borne by you and your family, who are innocent.

"Sincerely yours,
(Signed.) D. J. SPRINGER."

Judge Stewart, before passing sentence on Grainger, explained his attitude in the case. "We have before us a young man, who, so far as I know, I have never met. I have known his family, his father and his uncle since they were young men. In the forty years of our acquaintance, I have known them as careful and frugal men.

"I cannot get away from the feeling that there is no peril to the community in suspending sentence on Ernest Grainger. He was merely speeding and nearly everybody has been guilty of doing that. There is no depravity such that he would wilfully do any harm.

"The attitude of the relatives would recommend this parole. Mr. Grainger stands willing to make any possible reparation.

The judge then read the usual parole regulations to him and the special regulations that he imposed. Grainger will report regularly to the probation officer and was required to report at each term of court to the judge, either in person or by letter.

Self Styled Heir To Big Legacy Is Held By Officers

(Associated Press.)

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Nov. 3.—J. P. late of Eaton, Colo, self-styled heir to a $62,000 legacy with the provision that he wed before November 13, was arrested in company with a woman at a rooming house here today.

In a confession to the police, Comiskey declared that "the boys in a canning factory in Eaton started the legacy story as a oke."

His effects, consisted for the most part of letters and telegrams from women all over the United States.

"Well, I'll probably get five years for this," said Comisky smilingly to the detectives. "But it won't be the first time I've been in ail," he added.

"The heir" when searched at police headquarters was found to be penniless.

Comisky, Friday night had announced that he "had selected a boyhood sweetheart in Sioux City and would probably marry her the ninth or tenth of this month."

Award Contracts For State Printing

Contracts for two state printing jobs were awarded Saturday by Purchasing Agent Farris to the Nebraska Farmer, ex-Governor McKelvie's weekly paper, which was the low bidder on both. One of them is for 400 copies of the annual building and loan reports to the state banking bureau. The price is $1.75 a page, for about 170 pages, or about $300 for the whole job. The second contract covers 5,000 circulars of twenty-four pages each, containing regulations for cream stations and testers, which will be sent out by the agriculture department. This work will be done for $5.99 per page, or a trifle under $96 for the entire issue.

There were several other bidders, prices ranging up to $3.95 a page on the building and loan volume and $6.15 on the cream circulars.

Pave Park Entrance—Work was begun Saturday on the grading and paving of the C street entrance of Antelope park. This has long been a cinder driveway but because of drainage troubles and dusty summers the park department has decided to pave the entrance as far as the Rock Island tracks. The park superintendent's house is to be removed in time to a location less conspicuous leaving the park in view without obstructions from Twenty-seventh street.

Has Pity for Dog—A mangy dog which plays between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets on Q street has aroused the pity of a kind hearted woman there who writes to the local humane society asking it to catch the animal and cure it, saying that as soon as she has the necessary dollar ahead she will pay for the medicine. The humane society will attempt to catch the dog and will do what it can for the mange without asking the informant to furnish the funds.

DEEP GLOOM IN LONDON OVER FRENCH STAND

British Foreign Office Will Undertake Effort to Induce Poincare to Modify Determination to Limit Conference.

PROSPECT NOT BRIGHT ADMITTED BY ENGLISH

Views of Coolidge That Restrictions Would Probably Spell Failure Have a Depressing Effect On Washington.

(International News Service.)

LONDON, Nov. 3.—In contrast with previous optimism, government circles were in deepest gloom today over the prospects for the proposed international reparations conference.

It was learned at the foreign office that Great Britain has instructed Lord Crewe, British ambassador to Paris, to make the utmost efforts to induce Premier Poincare to modify his terms and to make the inquiry a free one. The British ambassador was told to point out to the French premier that sentiment in Washington and London regards the French restrictions as nullifying the value of the conference.

It is understood that Italy has long protested against the French terms. This aligns England, Italy and the United States against the French conditions. France has the support of Belgium and her strategic position is strengthened further by the fact that M. Borthou, former French premier, is president of the inter-allied reparations commission.

Want Lines Fixed.

Great Britain desires to write into the invitation to the United States the actual terms of the conference, taking the agenda out of the hands of the inter-allied reparations commission. France is opposed to such action. France wants the conference to be held under the supervision of the reparations commission and along fixed lines laid down by the commission.

In the meantime all developments are held up pending the result of the British representations to Premier Poincare.

A semi-official spokesman for the British government admitted that prospects for the conference are not satisfactory. He said England's chief hope is that the United States will make strong representations to France on her own account.

Distinctly Depressed.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Statements at the white house that President Coolidge would view the placing of restrictions on the proposed expert committee inquiry into Germany's capacity to pay reparations as committing the plan to almost certain failure had a distinctly depressing effect today on the entire outlook.

What effect the indicated desire of Premier Poincare of France, to limit the scope of inquiry may have on the question of American participation was stated at the white house when the president's views were disclosed yesterday to be as yet uncertain.

It remains to be disclosed what stipulations France may attach in joining the allies in a formal invitation for an unofficial American representative on the committee and it was indicated much would depend on the language in which these may be couched.

Should they appear to place definite restrictions on the scope of inquiry it was indicated that the Washington government probably would agree to American participation, but only after plainly stating its belief that an attempt to settle the reparations question in that way would be futile.

Herrick Meets Poincare.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—Myron T. Herrick, the American ambassador, called on Premier Poincare today and had a long conversation with him. The strictest secrecy regarding the subject of the conference is maintained at the French foreign office and the American embassy.

Mary Garden Says Marriage Jest Has Started Something

(Associated Press.)

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 3.—When Mary Garden, prima dona, was quoted on the Pacific coast recently as having said she might marry within a year she started something, she said here yesterday. The trouble was that somebody added a few frills to it, the principal one of which was that she had declared her preference for a westerner. Miss Garden said it was a plot hatched by newspaper reporters.

"The whole affair was started in jest," she said, "but soon became a terrible reality when ranchers and used-to-be ranchers began seeking interviews with me in order to press their suits."

COMISKEY TO WIN WIFE AND ESTATE

Colorado Heir Reported Engaged to Young Woman From Chadron.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Nov. 3.—J. T. Comiskey, Eaton, Colo., man, who will inherit $63,000 from an uncle provided he is married by November 11, 1923, is engaged to marry Miss Hazel Griffiths of Sioux City, Ia, and formerly of Chadron, Neb., according to information given out at the rooming house at which Comiskey is supposed to reside.

Informants at the rooming house refused to divulge any details of the proposed marriage, except to say that the couple would be married in Sioux City and would reside in Iowa for at least six months after the wedding.

Comiskey has received hundreds of letters from girls in all parts of the country, offering to share his lot and the $62,000 inheritance. Miss Griffiths was represented to be a working girl, twenty-three years old and pretty. She has been a resident of Sioux City since last May, according to information received.

NOT TO ATTEMPT IOWA CO-OP MOVE

(Associated Press.)

DES MOINES, Nov. 3.—Differences between Iowa farm bureau officials and Aaron Sapiro, counsel on co-operative marketing for the American farm bureau federation, over the methods by which co-operative selling shall be worked out, developed here yesterday when Sapiro, in an address before the Iowa state teachers' association, attacked Iowa co-operative legislation as a generation behind that of the rest of the country.

As a result Sapiro declared that the Lowden wheat marketing committee would not attempt to organize Iowa for co-operative marketing, in the near future at least.

Farm bureau officials and representatives of the extension department of the Iowa state college accosted Sapiro in a downtown hotel lobby after Sapiro's address and an altercation which followed resulted in the request by hotel officials that the debaters leave the lobby.

Sapiro declared that "the Iowa co-operative marketing laws have no teeth" and accused Iowa farm bureau officials of hostility to co-operative marketing.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING.

The governing sign of this date is Scorpio and the governing planet is Mars. The astrol colors are golden brown and green.

Three great evils are apt to dominate Scorpio people when on the animal plane of life. These are anger, jealousy and passion, and if permitted to hold sway will destroy their integrity and ruin their lives.

When these people live on the higher plane of life, however, they are very superior individuals; when they do not they are apt to be tricky, subtle and very cunning. They have a way of finding out secrets, and especially those which pertain to business and social successes.

The birthstones of this date are either a topaz or a malachite.

Watch The Star Want Ads carefully for the next two weeks and if you are looking for bargains in furniture, they will guide your path path aright.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING.

The governing sign of this date is Scorpio and the governing planet is Mars. The astrol colors are golden brown and green.

Three great evils are apt to dominate Scorpio people when on the animal plane of life. These are anger, jealousy and passion, and if permitted to hold sway will destroy their integrity and ruin their lives.

When these people live on the higher plane of life, however, they are very superior individuals; when they do not they are apt to be tricky, subtle and very cunning. They have a way of finding out secrets, and especially those which pertain to business and social successes.

The birthstones of this date are either a topaz or a malachite.

Watch The Star Want Ads carefully for the next two weeks and if you are looking for bargains in furniture, they will guide your path path aright.

CHIEF OFFENDER WAS OVERLOOKED

Koutsky Says General Manager of Omaha Water Board to Blame.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 3—City Commissioner Koutsky, chairman of the council committee named to investigate the muddy water situation, Friday said the report of the utilities directors overlooked the principal person at fault for the occurrence.

"No mention was made of any neglect of the general manager," Koutsky said, "when, as I see it, he was the one on whom responsibility must fall.

"There were no rules and regulations for washing the basins and nothing to indicate that the general manager concerned himself about the system employed. If I had a 19-year-old boy who did not have a better idea about conducting an organization than this, I would not want to own him as mine. He at least would know enough to have daily reports of basin washings and would know whether any basin had been washed within the last two years.

"The fact is there was no boss about the water plant. Things went in helter skelter fashion and if Operating Engineer Robison had rested his case in the hands of John L. Webster, as did Mr Howell, he would have come out with less blame attached to him."

Chairman Koutsky said that a report would be made to the council as soon as he has opportunity to consult with other members of the committee The chamber of commerce committee will consider its report on the water inquiry at a meeting next Monday noon.

HASTINGS, Neb., Nov 3—If the verdict returned here last night by the jury in the famous O'Connor estate case stands, the estate of the mysterious local recluse, valued at more than $100,000, will go to the state of Nebraska. The jury was out about twenty-four hours, but its verdict was returned by unanimous vote.

Judge Blackledge, who presided at the trial in district court, submitted five distinct questions to the jury. There were four sets of claimants beside the state, these being the Kirkmans, the Allmans, the Connors and the Olsons The answers to the first four questions could have favored either of these groups.

The fifth question was. "Do you find that John O'Connor, deceased, late of Hastings, Neb., died leaving no kindred nor wife surviving him?" To this query the answer was "Yes."

According to the attorneys, a part and perhaps all of the claimants will appeal to the supreme court.

MRS. LINDQUIST TELLS WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Her

Kansas City, Mo.—"I was left in a very serious condition after childbirth and no one thought I could ever be any better. Then came the 'Change of Life' and I was not prepared for what I had to suffer. I had to go to bed at times to be perfectly quiet as I could not even stoop down to pick anything from the floor. I did not suffer any pain, but I was decidedly nervous and could not sleep. For nearly two years I was this way, and the doctor was frank enough to tell me that he could do no more for me. Shortly after this I happened to see in a newspaper an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In a few days the medicine was in the house and I had begun its use and I took it regularly until I was well. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to others when I have the opportunity."—Mrs. MAY LINDQUIST, 2814 Independence Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

Says Big Corn Crop to Bring Good Business

"With Nebraska's corn crop as heavy as it is now, and with the price of grain at the present figure, we are anticipating heavy spring business," says George H. Holden, president of the Western Glass and Paint company, in speaking of the business prospects for the coming year as he sees them. "We are just now sending out our salesmen, who will be on the road through November, December and January. When they come back, I shall be more definitely informed, but I think I shall be optimistic as now."

Mr. Holden thinks there will not be any appreciable difference in the prices on paints and glass, but that any change will be a decrease. He says that if there is no revision of the price scale for these materials, the building activities will be larger, and prosperity, as during the past summer, will follow building of new homes and new buildings.

"There is no doubt," Mr. Holden says, "that in a state which is largely agricultural as Nebraska is, the heavy corn crop and the high prices will make the farmer sell his grain, for he can not expect to get much better prices. And the farmer will buy of the retailer in his own town, thus reflecting his good fortune to the wholesaler."

Automobile upholstery leather or fabrics are the heaviest line for business at the Harpham Bros. company, according to C. F. Harpham of the firm. With the coming of winter, people are having their cars enclosed, preparing for severe weather. Consequently, automobile top repairers are coming to the leather companies, especially those near home, for materials to use in top and trimmings.

"Another heavy line at present is in luggage." Mr. Harpham said. "And we expect the rush to continue until Christmas time. We make the travelling bags, suit cases, and the like, here in town, and they make acceptable gifts."

Saddles, particularly the cowboy kind, are selling very well at present. The Harpham saddle factory, in the back of the building and the upper stories, is working at full speed, and is still behind with orders which have already come in, and which are simply awaiting shipment.

Small town saddle makers who send to the Lincoln concern for their materials are also buying leather-like fabrics for automobile work, for the small town leather man is not only outfitter for beast but also for the new "horseless carriage."

Plumbing in itself is good business, but not a satisfactory one, says George Cultra of the Mattes Plumbing company. For there are so many men in the business that competition is very strong, and estimates which allow any reasonable amount of profit are ordinarily rejected.

From the standpoint of volume of business, this is a better year than any of the past three or four. There is more work in the plumbing lines because the city of Lincoln is growing rather rapidly. But the profit on each individual job is not sufficient to justify staying in the business.

Prices on materials are high at wholesale, and labor of plumbers is notoriously high. The weak point in such generalizations, however, Mr. Cultra says, is that the journeyman plumber is not working a full year, in the majority of cases.

STATE WINNER OF O'CONNOR ESTATE

Jury Finds That Hastings Recluse Died Without a Living Relative.

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., Nov. 3.—If the verdict returned here last night by the jury in the famous O'Connor estate case stands, the estate of the mysterious local recluse, valued at more than $100,000, will go to the state of Nebraska. The jury was out about twenty-four hours, but its verdict was returned by unanimous vote.

Judge Blackledge, who presided at the trial in district court, submitted five distinct questions to the jury. There were four sets of claimants beside the state, these being the Kirkmans, the Allmans, the Connors and the Olsons. The answers to the first four questions could have favored either of these groups.

The fifth question was: "Do you find that John O'Connor, deceased, late of Hastings, Neb., died leaving no kindred nor wife surviving him?" To this query the answer was "Yes."

According to the attorneys, a part and perhaps all of the claimants will appeal to the supreme court.

W. T. Thompson of Lincoln represented the state in the protracted trial.

CHICAGO BANDIT SLAYS CASHIER

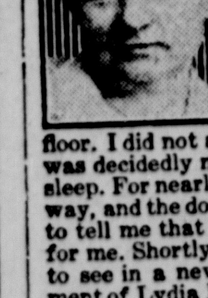
Employe Of Elevated Station Shot Through Heart By Unknown Man.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—An elevated railway bandit, believed to have worked without confederates in his attempt to loot the Twenty-ninth street station of the South Side L shot down and killed Charles H. Johnson, night cashier at the station early today. Johnson was shot through the heart and died without giving police any clue to the identity of his slayer.

Johnson's revolver, found inside his cage, with one cartridge discharged, was mute evidence that the cashier had fought off the attack before he fell. Nickels and dimes were strewn about the floor of his cage, but police believe that the bandit got no money before he fled.

Officers have been able to find no witnesses of the shooting, leaving them no clues in their search for the killer.

An early passenger told an elevated conductor that he heard shots fired at the Twenty-ninth street station as he hurried to board his train. Police responding to the conductor's report found Johnson dying in a pool of blood.



MRS. LINDQUIST TELLS WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Her

Kansas City, Mo.—"I was left in a very serious condition after childbirth and no one thought I could ever be any better. Then came the 'Change of Life' and I was not prepared for what I had to suffer. I had to go to bed at times to be perfectly quiet as I could not even stoop down to pick anything from the floor. I did not suffer any pain, but I was decidedly nervous and could not sleep. For nearly two years I was this way, and the doctor was frank enough to tell me that he could do no more for me. Shortly after this I happened to see in a newspaper an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In a few days the medicine was in the house and I had begun its use and I took it regularly until I was well. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to others when I have the opportunity."—Mrs. MAY LINDQUIST, 2814 Independence Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

Says Big Corn Crop to Bring Good Business

"With Nebraska's corn crop as heavy as it is now, and with the price of grain at the present figure, we are anticipating heavy spring business," says George H. Holden, president of the Western Glass and Paint company, in speaking of the business prospects for the coming year as he sees them. "We are just now sending out our salesmen, who will be on the road through November, December and January. When they come back, I shall be more definitely informed, but I think I shall be optimistic as now."

Mr. Holden thinks there will not be any appreciable difference in the prices on paints and glass, but that any change will be a decrease. He says that if there is no revision of the price scale for these materials, the building activities will be larger, and prosperity, as during the past summer, will follow building of new homes and new buildings.

"There is no doubt," Mr. Holden says, "that in a state which is largely agricultural as Nebraska is, the heavy corn crop and the high prices will make the farmer sell his grain, for he can not expect to get much better prices. And the farmer will buy of the retailer in his own town, thus reflecting his good fortune to the wholesaler."

Automobile upholstery leather or fabrics are the heaviest line for business at the Harpham Bros. company, according to C. F. Harpham of the firm. With the coming of winter, people are having their cars enclosed, preparing for severe weather. Consequently, automobile top repairers are coming to the leather companies, especially those near home, for materials to use in top and trimmings.

"Another heavy line at present is in luggage," Mr. Harpham said. "And we expect the rush to continue until Christmas time. We make the travelling bags, suit cases, and the like, here in town, and they make acceptable gifts."

Saddles, particularly the cowboy kind, are selling very well at present. The Harpham saddle factory, in the back of the building and the upper stories, is working at full speed, and is still behind with orders which have already come in, and which are simply awaiting shipment.

Small town saddle makers who send to the Lincoln concern for their materials are also buying leather-like fabrics for automobile work, for the small town leather man is not only outfitter for beast but also for the new "horseless carriage."

Plumbing in itself is good business, but not a satisfactory one, says George Cultra of the Mattes Plumbing company. For there are so many men in the business that competition is very strong, and estimates which allow any reasonable amount of profit are ordinarily rejected.

From the standpoint of volume of business, this is a better year than any of the past three or four. There is more work in the plumbing lines because the city of Lincoln is growing rather rapidly. But the profit on each individual job is not sufficient to justify staying in the business.

Prices on materials are high at wholesale, and labor of plumbers is notoriously high. The weak point in such generalizations, however, Mr. Cultra says, is that the journeyman plumber is not working a full year, in the majority of cases.
